Compromise May End Controversy On Food Relief Expect Pymatuning Dam Construction To Begin During Spring

Administration Leaders Struggle To Work Out Satisfactory Settlement

SPECIAL SESSION THREATS PASSING

Would Appropriate $15,000,000 If Red Cross Cannot Alleviate Condition

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The seething controversy between President Hoover and the senate over the drought relief funds today edged toward an amicable settlement on a compromise plan of appropriating $15,000,000 to be used if the Red Cross fails to alleviate starvation in the drought areas.

The president's statement on the drought controversy, strangely conciliatory in tone, was credited with having paved the way to a settlement. He appeared some of his critics on Capitol Hill by conceding they were "actuated by the highest motives" in fighting for a direct appropriation of federal relief funds but justified his own opposition by declaring the Red Cross could take care of the situation without government assistance.

Seek Compromise.
Administration leaders struggled to work out a compromise through this loophole. Sen. J. Watson, Republican leader of the senate, and Senator McNary, his assistant, were leading the compromise movement. Both were to see the president today in hopes of easing the controversy.

If a compromise is negotiated, the threat of a special session of the new congress will disappear promptly. Both Democrats and insurgent Republican leaders have declared they will not filibuster if proper federal relief is provided.

PA NEW OBSERVES

There is jubilation in New Castle today over the developments of yesterday at the state and national capitals, when it was practically assured that both the Pymatuning dam and the New Castle postoffice would be actualities in the near future. Building of the dam will mark a big forward step for the Shenango and Beaver Valleys in Western Pennsylvania, while the erection of the postoffice is an improvement that has long been needed. Suggestion in a Washington dispatch of yesterday concerning sites for the building, on investigation here, does not seem plausible. The present site of the building seems the logical one that will be used in the improvement.

Certainly there was never a more auspicious time for start of construction of the Pymatuning dam. The project would create a lot of employment at a time when jobs are the biggest need of the commonwealth, and at the same time would provide an improvement that is a vital necessity in this western end of the state.

The ground hog may have seen his shadow Monday and retired for six weeks more of winter, but someone evidently got their signals mixed, because yesterday was anything but winterlike.

One of these days, quite a bit in the future perhaps, Postmaster Crawford and his men will make their annual inspections of the R. F. D. routes.

County Poor Director Hogue says men are taking advantage of the spring-like weather to dig more coal at the county-operated surface vein out in Croton. Within the past few days his office has issued a host of permits to diggers.

Hoover Interests Self In Plan Of Paying Soldiers

President Hoover Takes Hand In Battle Being Waged For Cash To Soldiers

BUSINESS LEADERS DISAPPROVE PLAN

Will Permit House Committee To Initiate Legislation, Senate Steers Clear

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—President Hoover has taken a hand in the battle being waged in both branches of congress over proposals for cash payment of the three and a half billion soldiers "bonus," it was learned today.

The situation, so far as the house is concerned, is understood, that sentiment is strong in the house for granting of at least a part of the demands of veterans organizations, and that a compromise may be the only way out.

Leaders Disapprove
With the President interesting himself in the problem, the senate finance committee decided to withhold action on bills for cash payment of the adjusted compensation certificates, and permit the house ways and means committee to initiate legislation.

The ways and means committee, in the midst of hearing statements from business and financial leaders that cash payment would postpone the return of prosperity by upsetting the nation's financial structure, will attempt to take action on bills before it on Saturday.

Administration leaders of the house are frankly against cash payment, but they are considering compromise legislation.

If there appears to be a good prospect of killing all legislation, the house leaders may attempt it. If as they fear, congress insists upon some measure of relief, they will attempt to frame a compromise program.

Eight Missing As Seaplane Plunges

Seven Enlisted Men And One Officer Of British Royal Air Force Missing

(International News Service)

PLYMOUTH, England, Feb. 4.—Seven enlisted men and one officer were reported missing today and three other members of the crew were rescued following an explosion aboard a giant Royal Air Force seaplane, which dropped into the sea after the blast.

The mishap was witnessed by scores of spectators who were watching the aerial maneuvers from cliffs along Plymouth shore. Coast guard boats immediately went to the rescue and brought back three men.

Search for the others continued, but it was feared they either were killed by the blast or drowned.

Citizens Elated Over Action On Pymatuning Dam

HOPE WORK WILL BE STARTED SOON

New Castle citizens are more than elated over the action taken by Governor Pinchot yesterday in urging immediate construction of the Pymatuning dam, and asking that the recommendations contained in the budget, appropriating money for the same be approved by the General Assembly.

A message of appreciation was sent to Governor Pinchot today by the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, in which the governor was commended for his support in this most important project.

The message follows:
Hon. Gifford Pinchot:
On behalf of our city and this entire district of Western Pennsylvania, we wish to express our sincere appreciation and gratitude to you for your stand in the matter of the

Butler Leaves For Washington

Maj.-Gen. Butler Leaves Quantico For Washington Today

PLANS TO CONFER WITH HIS LAWYER

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Leaving his military post at Quantico, Va., Marine barracks, Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, was due here today for consultation over his defense before a court martial February 16 for referring to Premier Mussolini of Italy as a hit-and-run driver.

The conference with his attorney, Maj. Henry Leonard, will mark the Marine's first appearance without the confines of Quantico since he was ordered under arrest to await a court martial's pleasure nearly a week ago.

Butler remains silent since his arrest, and Leonard said the policy of the Butler defense would be to talk only when the court martial convenes.

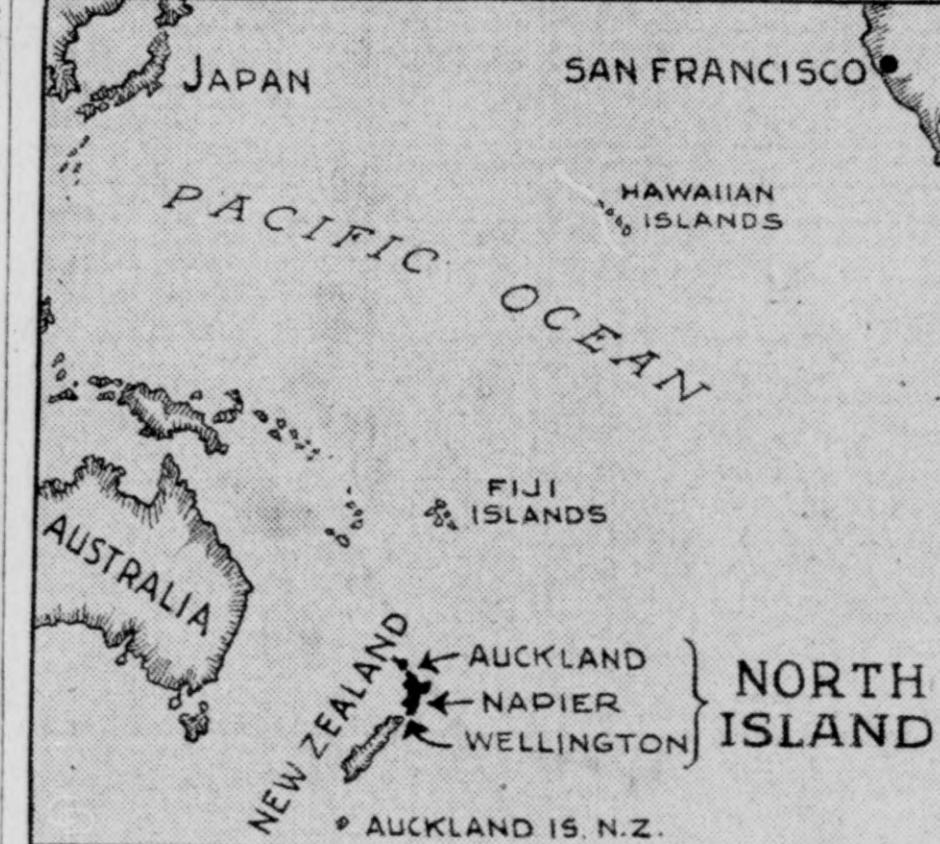

One new development in the case was revealed when it was learned Butler has taken exception to a reference to the incident by ex-President Coolidge in his newspaper column. Butler, it was learned, may charge before the court that Coolidge, himself a lawyer, has prejudged the case publicly, and exercise his right to question court members as to whether they were influenced by the former President's statements.

This could have little if any effect on the hearing it was pointed out, as regulations governing a court martial differ from those in civil trials.

AIRPLANE FLIES OVER NEW CASTLE IN WEE WEE HOUR

Local people with ears for airplane motors were awakened precariously this morning when a plane circled over the city and disappeared in the west.
The motors could be heard plainly in the downtown district at 3 a. m., but the plane was not visible, because of the intense darkness. It was either a very powerful motor plane or else it was flying very low, for the motors were quite loud.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 4.—Awakened by the ringing of an alarm clock early today to find her home in flames Katherine Fosgrace, 18, of Hays aroused her sleeping brothers and sisters and led them to safety while flames destroyed the two story frame dwelling and an adjoining vacant building.

Five children, including the rescuer, were asleep on the second floor of the home when the flames broke out.

They were: Katherine, 18, Joseph, 20, Julia, 11, Andrew, 9, and Margaret, 7. They comprise the family of Andrew Fosgrace.

Bankers Oppose Cash Payment To World War Vets

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The influence of the American Bankers Association was directed today against the proposals in Congress to pay the $3,500,000,000 veterans bonus certificates in cash.

Testifying before the House Ways and Means Committee Rome C. Stephenson, of South Bend, Ind., president of the Bankers Association, declared that payment of the bonus would plunge the country into another economic depression.

Seeking To Postpone Reapportionment Of Congress Two Years

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—With many states facing the necessity of electing all members of the house at large in 1932, a final desperate effort to postpone reapportionment of the house was launched today.

The bill of Rep. Knutson (R) of Minnesota, to postpone the effective date of reapportionment for two years, is the measure behind which forces opposing reapportionment are rallying.

Unless congress takes action, reapportionment becomes automatic for the next election.

And since many state legislatures are hopelessly divided upon a new split-up of congressional districts, scores of members of the house face state-wide campaigns two years from now.

Unless states which will lose members of congress redistrict, all candidates for the house will run at large. This affects Indiana, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota and many other states.

Rep. Clancy (R) of Michigan, a backer of reapportionment, served notice all attempts to postpone action will be fought.

He assailed the calling of a meeting of the house census committee for February 6 to consider reapportionment bills.

"If both house and senate should pass a bill postponing further reapportionment, which has been constitutionally due for 11 years, we cannot but believe that President Hoover would veto it," said Clancy.

Dynamite Truck Struck By Train, Three Are Dead

Accident In Utah Causes Death Of Three—Ten Others Suffer Injuries

PASSENGERS ON TRAIN UNINJURED

(International News Service)
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 4.—Three men were dead and ten others suffered from injuries today following the explosion of a motor truck loaded with dynamite caps when it was struck by a Denver and Rio Grande passenger train.

An inquiry was to be held today over the bodies of the three victims. The dead were: J. E. Beggsan, of Eureka; B. F. Bugg, engineer of the train and James Prinsen of this city, official of the Western Power company. E. W. James, fireman of the locomotive, suffered severe burns and may die, according to hospital authorities.

Beggsan was driving the dynamite truck late yesterday when it was struck by the Ogden-bound train. The explosion demolished the motor truck, tore away one side of the locomotive and demolished the locomotive cab.

Several passengers in the two coaches were badly shaken but none suffered injury. Scores of windows in a nearby packing plant were shattered, showering employees with broken glass.

The coaches continued down the track for 200 yards before automatic brakes brought them to a stop.

Gandhi Offers To Seek Peace

Mahatma Gandhi Makes Direct Overture To British Government Seeking Peace

SUGGESTS INQUIRY INTO OPPRESSION

(International News Service)
BOMBAY, Feb. 4.—Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the campaign of civil disobedience against British rule in India, today made a definite offer to seek peace with the British Government.

India's Holy Man wrote a letter to Lord Irwin, the viceroy, urging him to institute an inquiry into six specific instances of alleged police excesses against Indian nationalists since the start of the civil disobedience campaign.

Gandhi asserted in his letter that he would interpret the viceroy's favorable reply to his request as a genuine gesture of peace, and in that case he would exert all his influence to persuade the all-India Congress, representing the Nationalists, to accept the offer of the British Government of eventual qualified dominion status for India.

The annual meeting of the all-India Congress has been fixed provisionally for April 6.

The viceroy's reply is awaited eagerly.

More Than Six Hundred Dead In Earthquake

Relief Is Rushed To Napier And Hastings, Stricken New Zealand Cities

FIRES BREAK OUT ADDING TO TERROR

Authorities Order Evacuation Of Napier To Prevent Outbreak Of Disease

By F. W. SIMMONDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WELLINGTON, Feb. 5. (Thursday)—Based on reliable reports received here up to 1 o'clock this morning it is estimated that Tuesday's disastrous earthquake in the Hawke Bay Province of North Island took a toll of at least 640 lives.

Police in Napier, which is a veritable shambles of dead and dying, estimate 500 are dead there.

Hastings, twenty miles southwest of Napier, will probably have a death toll of 100.

Thirty one are known to be dead in Taradale, near Napier.

Two priests and seven students of a Catholic seminary were killed in Green Meadows, practically a suburb of Napier.

With doctors, nurses, government officials, bluejackets and relief supplies arriving in Napier and Hastings by every available means of transportation, efforts were made tonight to check up the number of casualties caused by the series of violent earthquake shocks which rocked half of North Island.

No official figures are yet available, as many victims are still buried beneath tons of debris. Conservative estimates, however, state that the death toll will undoubtedly exceed 200. Several thousand have been injured and at least 50,000 persons are homeless.

Fires Break Out
The quakes succeeded each other in quick succession yesterday, the most violent being between nine and 11 o'clock yesterday morning and again late last night. Although the shocks affected at least half of North Island, serious damage was confined to the Hawke Bay region, on the east coast, particularly Napier and Hastings.

At five o'clock this evening Napier and Hastings were still ablaze, fires having broken out immediately after the first violent quake. Fire-

Los Angeles Area Has Severe Storm

Property Damage In Los Angeles Area Is Large; Heavy Rainfall Reported

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 4.—One of the worst storms in recent years was pounding San Pedro and the Los Angeles area today.

Rainfall which reached cloudburst proportions in some quarters marooned several families within their homes, flooded residential and business areas and caused a score of railway washouts. In 30 minutes 1.22 inches of rain fell at Venice and Santa Monica.

The squall conditions created high tides and stormy seas. Waves tore down a bathhouse and endangered retaining walls and earth embankments in hillside residential regions.

Some of the day nurses at the Napier technical school collapsed.

Nine girls were also believed to have been entombed in the ruins of a draper shop at Hastings.

Fearful of further quakes, thousands of persons were sleeping on the Napier beaches.

Both Napier and Hastings were, smoking ruins today.

Will Call Maxon For Own Defense

Son Of Episcopal Bishop On Trial For Murder—State Closes Case

KILLED MAN IN NEW YORK CITY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The state was scheduled to close its case today in the trial of James M. Maxon Jr., son of the Methodist Episcopal church bishop coadjutor of Tennessee. The 21-year-old youth is accused of the murder of David Paynter, 73-year-old printer, in a rooming house brawl.

The defendant was expected to be among the first witnesses called for the defense today. It will be his first statement of the circumstances on the night of April 18 of last year, for he has declined to discuss the aged man's death since his arrest. The state yesterday introduced two witnesses who described Paynter's death. The witnesses, fellow lodgers with young Maxon, said they had witnessed the defendant striking down anyone who came near him and said he had beaten the aged man with a chair.

Several Thousand In Cuba On Strike

Efforts To Make Strike General Are Foiled By Police Who Halt Parade

(International News Service).
HAVANA, Feb. 4.—Several thousand stevedores, linotype operators, metallurgical workers, carpenters and maritime workers were on strike today, protesting in general against the Machado regime and in particular against the suspension of constitutional guarantees by the Cuban legislature.

As a result of the strike none of the Spanish language newspapers in Havana appeared this morning. According to present plans the strike will come to an end at six o'clock tonight, after a 24-hour stoppage, but representatives of the unions involved are meeting today to consider whether or not the strike should be continued.

Efforts to make the strike general failed when police last night broke up an unauthorized parade of 2,000 strikers who were attempting to get all workmen to leave their tasks. Many of the strikers were arrested.

Ed Seboski owned the town's largest soft drink parlor. It was time to make application for renewal of his license for the subsequent year. Ed desired to make some extra alterations in his place, and after a while did go into them extensively. One of the householders in the vicinity resented the presence of the parlor in his neighborhood. When Ed began his alterations, the householder became even more incensed than previously. In his mind's eye he thought he saw at once what Ed had in view and so he spread the report that Ed intended to add a gambling house to his business.

The rumor so stirred the neighbors that a petition was gotten up and passed around, and as a result Ed was denied his license for the next year. Ed filed suit for slander against the man who started the rumor.

ment problem, and also that he is desirous of seeing the Pymatuning Dam completed in every detail, during his present administration.

Adds To His Address
Governor Pinchot's ideas regarding the dam were expressed in an addition to his formal budget address, delivered before a joint session of the House and Senate on Tuesday. As he closed his prepared address he said, "as to the Pymatuning Dam and several other projects, I suggest that an emergency appropriation be passed, making available at least part of the money so that work can be started in March."

Estimates upon when the work would be finished have not yet been made. The necessary excavation, the building of spillways, the clearance of timber and other growths in the basin, the re-location of highways, and other work attendant to the dam will take many months of labor.

Speedy work in the Pymatuning Dam is in large part the result of effort of Senator George T. Wein-gartner of Lawrence County. At a meeting held in New Castle some weeks ago attended by interested citizens of four counties, he was asked to head up the work of the committee in Harrisburg. This he did, and convinced Governor Pinchot and Secretary of Revenue, Dr. Clyde L. King that immediate action was necessary.

New Postoffice On Present Site It Now Appears

North Mercer Street Site Appears To Be Most Logical One

Announcement from Washington yesterday that the program is moving along to a point where there is the possibility of an early start on the construction of the new post-office in New Castle, has created much interest here. The appropriation of $250,000 is larger than that originally scheduled some years ago, and will provide for a building here adequate for years in the future it is indicated.

The selection of a site will be the first thing to be determined as soon as the appropriation is absolutely fixed. While there has been some discussion of the possibility of using other sites about the city, the general opinion is that the present site will be enlarged and will be used for the new building, or extension of the present structure.

The present building would not be suitable for use as a library building without large expense, and the library is hardly in position to make expense that would be necessitated to purchase such a building.

To all practical purposes, it appears that the present North Mercer street site is the one that will be used.

fighting is hindered by the fact that water is scarce, water mains having been broken by the shocks.

Fifty-four bodies have been recovered from the ruins of Hastings. Forty-eight of them have been identified, but six others have not been identified. They cannot be identified. At least 10 other Hastings residents are reported missing.

Of the bodies recovered from the ruins of Napier only 11 have been identified. Many bodies are buried beneath the wreckage of houses and tons of earth which fell off the high cliffs overlooking the sea.

At least nine persons have been killed in Green Meadows, a town about four miles from Napier. They are Father Godinger and Father Boyle of the Catholic Seminary, together with seven of their students. Two other students were seriously injured when the seminary collapsed.

Work Well Organized

Relief work in the whole stricken area is well organized. Four cabinet ministers have arrived in Hastings. Blue jackets from the New Zealand cruisers, Dumedin and Diomedea, which left Auckland yesterday, are expected at Napier momentarily. Meanwhile members of the crew of the British naval sloop Veronica, under the direction of Commander Morgan, have taken charge in Napier.

All supplies of bread, butter, flour and other perishables in Napier and Hastings have been exhausted. But supplies of food, water, blankets and tents from Wellington and Auckland should arrive shortly.

It is hoped that the railway line between Wellington and Napier will be repaired as far as Hastings by morning. As soon as possible many of the more seriously injured victims of the disaster will be evacuated to Wellington to relieve the strain on emergency hospitals which have been set up in Napier and Hastings.

Salvation Army workers have undertaken the task of caring for destitute mothers and their babies. Huge crowds surround all of the newspaper offices and radio shops in Wellington, eager for the latest news of the disaster. Women who have relatives in the Hawke Bay region go weeping through the streets, fearing the worst.

New Castle Chamber of Commerce, Alfred W. Chilton, Secy. Governor Pinchot's action in approving the recommendations of the budget relative to the appropriation of money for the dam, and the wish that money be made available immediately as an unemployment relief measure are taken to mean that work will be started on the project as soon as possible.

Practically all the land necessary for the project has already been purchased, but a few acres remaining to be added to the acreage in the district.

Plans have also been drawn and everything is in readiness to start work at once, backers of the project stated today.

If work is started this spring, it can be completed for use in the spring of 1933, state engineers told a gathering here several weeks ago, and all indications now point to an immediate start on the project.

The approval of the legislature will be necessary before the project becomes an assured fact, but little opposition is expected from this source, and it is believed the legislature will take immediate action in the matter.

SENATE AND HOUSE IN HOT WRANGLES, SITUATION TENSE

tives blame the Progressives only to have the charge taken up and hurled back at them.

It is traditional that members of Congress shall not impugn each other's motives in debate, yet it has been frequently done in the past week. It is likewise traditional that the Senate and House shall refrain from criticizing each other's motives—yet in the House yesterday a serious demand was made for a change in the century-old rules so that members could reply to attacks and call senators by name.

Longworth Netted
Speaker Longworth, nettled by some of the criticism visited upon him in the Senate, actually said he would entertain a motion for such a change in the rules. The statement was cheered on the floor.

This followed savage attacks on the Senate by Representative Cramton (R) of Michigan, who had been accused by Senator Caraway (D) of Arkansas, the day before, with "feathering his own nest" with a $10,000-a-year job while leading the opposition to granting $25,000,000 to feed the hungry in Arkansas. "Anyone who says that is a liar," shouted Cramton.

And instead of the Michigan representative being called to order, the Republican side cheered, while the Democrats side shouted and yelled.

Treadway Increased
Another member to come within range of Caraway's biting sarcasm was Representative Treadway (R) of Massachusetts, who also was prominent in the House's rejection of the Senate's $25,000,000 food offer. Caraway had charged Treadway with inconsistency in that at the time of the Salem (Mass.) fire Treadway had led a fight for a federal appropriation of $200,000 for relief.

Treadway demanded a change in the House rules so that names could be called.

"We are not going to sit here quietly and take that sort of talk," he asserted. "We are not going to sit here and have that sort of abuse of members of this House broadcast to the country."

It has been a long time since the feeling between House and Senate has been so strained.

C. J. Henry, track supervisor of the Erie & Ashtabula division, Pennsylvania railroad, who resides in Niles, O., was promoted today to the post of supervisor on the company's Pittsburgh division at Trafford, Pa. His new district forms a part of the Pennsy's main line track.

The advancement of Henry marks the second promotion affecting the division supervisory force within a few weeks. R. H. Meintel having been named to a Panhandle division supervisory post only a short time ago.

Supervisor Henry, whose territory on the E. & A. included the line from New Castle to Niles, is widely known here. His move to Trafford places him under his former chief, Collins W. Van Nort, division engineer of the Pittsburgh division who was formerly division engineer here.

Division offices announce no successor to Henry has been chosen.

Owen D. Young Has New Banking Plan

Would Charter All So-Called Deposit Banks As National Banks

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—A proposal to charter all so-called deposit banks under federal control as national banks, as distinguished from savings banks, was made today by Owen D. Young of New York, author of the German reparation plan, before the Glass senate banking subcommittee today.

Young, who is chairman of the board of the General Electric Co., told the committee all commercial deposit banking should be carried under one law and examination of their books and their control under one authority.

"Their reserve should be mobilized in the federal reserve system," he said.

Acoustic Engineers Study Subway Noises

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—In a special car, attached to the rear of a long train of subway cars here, acoustic engineers measured the noise heard by subway travelers in their passage daily to and from work. The noise measurement is part of the campaign in the city to eliminate unnecessary noises.

Acceleration of the motors produced more noise within the cars, the noise students found, then any other cause—more racket, their instruments indicated, originated within the car than outside, except when other trains were being passed.

Sensitive noise meters, filters which determined the audible range and frequency of the sound, condenser microphones—suspended from straps at the level of straphangers' ears and near the open windows, comprised the principal equipment used for measuring the noise within the subway.

Besides the acceleration of the motors, grinding gears, wheels, motors beneath the car floor and like noises, and the rattle of the car and its squeaks, the engineers found were the principal noises that assaulted the ears of subway riders. These facts, said subway officials, will be used to prevent noise on the new subways now being built as well as reduce the racket in the present underground railways.

Eagles Ordered To Appear In Court

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 4.—Eagles lodged at Johnstown, Monessen and Erie today were ordered to appear in federal court here and enter pleas or demurrers to indictments recently returned against them by a special federal grand jury on charges of violating the National Prohibition act.

Judge R. M. Gibson handed down the order today upon receipt of a petition from United States Attorney Louis E. Graham.

Edward Veit, of Erie, was named a co-defendant in the bill returned against the Erie lodge, prohibition authorities reported.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Davis' Funeral.
Funeral services for the late Mrs. Maude Cooper Davis were held at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. C. O. Cooper, 1013 Lorain avenue Tuesday afternoon, February 3, at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. T. C. Henderson pastor of the Moravia Presbyterian church, was in charge of the services and was assisted by Rev. S. E. Irvine of the First U. P. church. Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Petrie rendered two beautiful selections, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Jesus, How Sweet the Name." Rev. Henderson spoke most suitably of the admirable traits of the late Mrs. Davis. The pallbearers were nephews of the deceased. The floral offerings expressed the high esteem in which Mrs. Davis was held by her many friends. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Funeral of Mr. DeVassie.
Funeral services of the late Fred DeVassie, 12 West Laurel avenue, were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Trinity Episcopal church with Rev. Philip C. Pearson, the rector, in charge. The selections "Jesus Lives" and "Abide With Me" were rendered by a quartette consisting of Mrs. Sylvester M. Rice, Mrs. George Westlake, John Jones and Paul Browne Patterson with Mrs. Paul Browne Patterson as accompanist.

The services were very largely attended and the floral tributes were many and beautiful. Impressive services according to the Masonic rites were conducted at the grave by J. C. Williams and a group of members of Mahoning Lodge, No. 243, F. & A. M.

The pallbearers were D. D. Cox, H. W. Wylie, W. M. Curran, J. M. Wilkison, J. C. Jenkins and W. F. McCune. Interment was made in the Hubbard, C. cemetery.

Time of Funeral.
Remains of Mrs. Charles E. Smith, Shenango township, were removed to the family residence on the Hog Hollow road, last evening. The funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. at the Savannah M. E. church. Interment will be made in Savannah church cemetery.

Mrs. Aiken's Funeral.
Funeral services of Mrs. Anna N. Aiken were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter Mrs. E. L. Rice, 315 Shaw street, where a short service was held, followed by another service at 2:30 o'clock at the Centre U. P. church with Rev. Johnson in charge.

The service was largely attended and a vocal duet was rendered by Rev. Johnson and Mr. Black with Mr. Houk as accompanist. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The pallbearers were Fred Schnell, Edward Currie, Jas. Hunt, Samuel Fowler, Milton Houk and Andrew Carlson. Interment was made in the Centre U. P. church cemetery.

Mrs. Heasley's Funeral.
Funeral services of Mrs. Harriet Ann Heasley were held Tuesday evening at eight o'clock at the home of her son Frank G. Heasley, 706 Blaine street, with Dr. H. C. Weaver in charge. Interment was made this morning at 10 o'clock in Oak Park Cemetery. The pallbearers were Archie Gordon, Cecil Gordon, George Bolinger, William Reed, Samuel Reed and Charles Reed.

SPRING CAMPAIGN FOR HOSPITAL PLANNED

Tuesday morning the executive board of the Jameson Aid society assembled at the home of Mrs. J. Norman Martin on North Mercer street, when matters of importance were given attention.

A splendid report was heard from the sewing committee, stating that since the first of May, 1930, over six thousand articles had been completed and turned in to the Jameson hospital.

Plans were also discussed for a spring campaign for the purpose of getting more members, and to raise sufficient funds for the needs during 1931. The finance committee, with Mrs. D. C. Lindley in charge, will take care of the campaign plans.

This morning, from 9 until 12 o'clock a group of ladies of the city including the A. B. D. Girls, gathered at the hospital, and completed many more useful items.

Next Wednesday morning, another sewing class will be conducted at the hospital. The A. B. D. Girls will be present at all meetings during the month of February, and it is desired that any women of the city interested, be present to take part in this worthy cause.

Surprise Party.

Mrs. Nelson Swanson was pleasantly surprised when a number of neighbors gathered in her home at 516 Galbreath avenue to help celebrate her 69th birthday. The hours were spent in sociability and at a late hour the guests were invited into the dining room where they were served a delicious collation. Covers marked for 14 guests at the beautifully arranged table, centered with one of the guests. Mrs. Nelson Swanson and Mrs. Oscar Swanson served. A collection of many beautiful gifts was presented to the guest of honor in behalf of those present as a remembrance of the happy occasion.

BUILDING PYMATUNING DAM NOW IS LOGICAL

BUILDING of the Pymatuning dam at the present time is a real chance to put into operation a plan for providing employment for many in Western Pennsylvania, and at the same time carrying out a project that is vital to a large section of the state.

Recommendation by the governor to the state legislature on Tuesday that provision be made for an early start on this Western Pennsylvania project should be followed up at once with the proper measures.

The Pymatuning dam construction is a matter that is of great importance to a large section of the western end of the state. With the added benefit of providing employment at a time when employment is sorely needed no time should be wasted in getting the routine taken care of to clear the way.

Now is the time to build the Pymatuning dam. There is scant logic in any further delay.

DRIVING TOO FAST ON WINTER ROADS

Motorists by the thousands, this winter, have been skidding into the emergency operating rooms of hundreds of hospitals.

Hundreds more have not stopped there but have been carried from the wrecks of once splendid cars to the darkened parlors of funeral homes.

Few motorists who drive from city to city have not seen, this winter, at least one hopelessly wrecked car in a roadside ditch where it has skidded from a slippery pavement.

Alarmed at the tremendous increase in such accidents, many agencies are co-operating to cut down the death and injury toll from skidding accidents. Insurance companies, safety councils, automobile clubs, automobile and tire manufacturers are putting forth every effort to stem the steadily rising total of casualties.

A survey of skidding accidents in Pennsylvania has just been made and reveals that, in this state alone 735 persons have been killed or injured this winter as the result of skidding accidents.

Of this number, 83 were killed, 223 were seriously injured and there were 429 minor injuries. The list is necessarily incomplete and does not include pedestrians who have been hurt or killed as the result of being struck by skidding cars, nor does it include accidents, really due to skidding, but of which the cause was not determined.

More cars are skidding into wrecks these days because people drive faster than ever before. Modern brakes are better than they used to be, of course, but on a snow or ice-covered highway, worn smooth and slippery or frozen into a treacherous glassy surface, brakes even if perfectly adjusted, are efficient only if tires cling to the road.

Reduced speed and caution are the first essentials to safe winter driving. Lower inflation in the rear tires is next most important.

With more caution, reduced speeds on sheet ice, softer, clinging tires and discretion in the use of brakes, Pennsylvania could greatly reduce its record of casualties from skidding accidents.

NO TAX DEFLATION

To him who hath shall be given in "hard times." Those fortunate enough to possess the wherewithal for buying are now enjoying the benefits of a buyers' market with everything but one or two items among the necessities far down in price from what they were at the height of the period of inflation. The dollar is worth several cents more now than it was 18 months ago, which of course is no consolation for the jobless and dollarless.

There has been a decline in living costs of 6.2 per cent from December, 1929, to December, 1930, and of 3.5 per cent from last June to December. This price cutting has been as much as 13.2 per cent.

Food prices show the greatest drop among the six groups of items in the last half of last year, a benefit which comes straight home to the consumer but which has its drawback in impairment of the purchasing power of the farmer, whose money helps keep city factories operating and urban wage-earners working.

The people of the United States can buy food, furniture, fuel, light and clothing cheaper. The man with a job is indeed fortunate.

This is the balm in Gilead. The fly in the ointment is the stubborn refusal of taxes to come down and the ominous cloud in the heavens is the threat of still higher taxes.

WICKERSHAM'S OPINION

A paragraph in the Wickersham report, written by George W. Wickersham, the chairman, is possibly the best summary of that much argued document. Strangely enough it has received but passing attention. In it Mr. Wickersham sums up his conclusions thus briefly but cogently:

"I cannot believe that an experiment of such far-reaching and momentous consequences as this of national prohibition should be abandoned after seven years of such imperfect enforcement, and only three years of reorganization and effort to repair the mistakes of the earlier period. The older generation very largely has forgotten, and the young never knew, the evils of the saloon and the corroding influence upon politics, both local and national, of the organized liquor interests. But the tradition of that rottenness still lingers, even in the minds of the bitterest opponents of the prohibition law, substantially all of whom assert that the licensed saloon must never again be restored."

If the Wickersham Commission had given us nothing but that it would have been worth while.—The Harrisburg Telegraph.

CANNY SCOT

From Scotland we hear that Andrew, who, being very popular with the village folks, was requested by the minister to canvass for subscriptions to charity.

Andrew accepted the task. A few days later he was seen jangling along the road in a serious manner. "Andrew," said the minister, "it grieves me to see you in this condition."

"Ah, well," replied Andrew, "it's a' for the guid of the cause. You see meenister, it's a' because of the subscriptions. Ika hoose I go into they make me have a wee drapple."

"Will thou have this woman?" asked the parson.

"I'll," said the coster.

"You must say 'I will' corrected the parson, and repeated the question.

The parson threatened to stop the service if the response was not given in the proper manner. But this was too much for the bride.

What has become of the drive for uncovering women's ears? Women still plaster their hair over these appendages and the prevailing boys conceal them. Sculptors say it degrades one of the loveliest lines of a woman's body, the line running back of the ear and down the back to the shoulder. Covering the ears is an ancient fashion. When Queen Victoria married Prince Albert and brought in the fashion of brushing up the hair so as to uncover the ears it seemed almost indecent to the women of that day, as perhaps it would now.

FINDING A LOST QUARTER

During the last big snow storm a colored gent drove his Ford down to a filling station on a side street, intending to get some gasoline. He went down in his jeans to see how much money he had. One piece of a quarter, dropped in the snow. The colored man scraped around awhile in the snow, but couldn't find it. So he left his car there and went away. Three days later he came back. The snow was gone. He picked up the quarter. "Why did you leave your car here for three days?" asked the gas man. "Just to mark the place where I dropped that quarter," he replied. WHY BRIGHAM YOUNG DID NOT GO ON

If many of the followers of Brigham Young had been given their way, the Mormons would have pushed on to California. Brigham Young knew that his people would be driven out of California just as they had been driven out of Illinois. He didn't want them to be associated with seekers after easy money. In the Salt Lake City valley riches could be won only as a result of almost heart-breaking toil. People who wanted easy money wouldn't offer any competition to his people. The Mormons, then, would be left to themselves to work out their own salvation.

ARE YOU AMOS OR ANDY?

Amos minds his own business. Andy wants a thumb in every pie.

Amos keeps his feet on the ground. Andy has second-hand wings.

Amos looks before he leaps. Andy leaps and then yells for help.

Amos never gets into trouble. Andy never is anywhere else.

Amos uses his head. Andy uses his tongue.

Amos has brains. Andy has aspirations.

Amos loves just Ruby. Andy falls for any young woman with a laughing eye and a flattering tongue.

Are you Amos? Are you Andy?

Don't be like Andy and answer before you think—be like Amos and scratch your head and figger it out before you shoot your mouf off!

You're one or the other or maybe you're both. The chances are ten to one you're both Amos and Andy.

Amos, who's never in trouble. Andy, who's always in a jam. Amos, who knows enough to come in out of the rain; Andy, who's always all wet and moaning about it.

We used to talk about Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde about the mysterious personality who was both devil and angel by turns, a fiend one day, a fine human being the next. And we imagined we were like that, with sunny mountain peaks and gloomy canyons in our personalities. It was thrilling and flattering to think we were related to Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

But I'm afraid we were mistaken. We're Amos and Andy instead. Doing the right thing one day, fumbling our job the next. Being brave, looking cross-eyed, working hard, dreaming sweetly. Doing our stuff, falling down on the job.

That's me, that's you. I'm Amos, you're Andy. You're Amos, I'm Andy. Being solemn, being ridiculous. Getting a laugh, making a laugh—weeping, stuttering, grinning, toiling, sweating, loving, hating, remembering and forgetting and hoping—working our way, nipping a ride, cheerful and gloomy—all mixed up, two human beings in one. That's us and don't you forget it.

You're Andy—check! But you're also Amos—and that's double check!

Some men encountering women fair can see the brilliant in their hair.

And note their gowns and later tell if they become them very well.

Where they're pink or gray or blue or beige or any other hue.

But I have never learned to care or notice what the ladies wear.

To save my life I can't recall Were Mabel's earrings large or small.

Or later dare to make a guess Concerning Jennie's hat or dress.

I never by a woman stand, I never by a woman stand.

To count the jewels on her hand, Or look some lovely lady over.

And think: "I've seen that gown before!"

How oft to me has Nellie said: "In all the years that we've been wed."

Not once have you remarked upon The hat or gown that I had on.

Or raised your eyes above your book To say: "My dear, how nice you look!"

Women wear beautiful attire For men to notice and admire.

Last night as she came tripping down I thought to speak about her gown.

"My dear," I said, "I like your dress. It adds unto your loveliness."

Dr. Clendening Explains Gallstones Often Come From Spread Of Germs

Medical Authority Declares Position Of Gall Bladder In Anatomy Renders Organ Liable To Attack

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Infection of the gall bladder is the origin of most of its troubles. Every degree of severity in disease, from simple catarrhal inflammation to the formation of gallstones, may be initiated by an infection.

How does the gall bladder become infected? If you study its position in the anatomy you will see that it is very liable to such an event. All the blood from the intestines returns to the right heart by way of the liver. This is the portal circulation and all the portal veins go directly from the intestine to the liver. Now the intestine is a highly infected place, always full of germs. Some of these naturally get into the blood stream, go to the liver and are excreted in the bile and hence lodge in the gall bladder.

Diseases in which particular infections of the inside of the intestines take place, such as typhoid fever, are notably likely to produce gallstones. A famous American physician relates that he had a surgical operation for the removal of gallstones 35 years after he had an attack of typhoid fever. One of the stones was cut open under aseptic precautions and a culture made from the center. The culture showed living typhoid germs.

When infection occurs in any cavity of the body which contains a fluid, the salts in the fluid are liable to crystallize out around the infective germs and form a stone. Thus kidney and bladder stones are formed from the salts of the urine. The salts in the bile are fatty, a substance named cholesterol predominating, and this may crystallize out around a germ to cause a cholesterol stone, the commonest form of gallstones.

If the bile stagnates for any reason or becomes too concentrated, the cholesterol may form gallstones without an infection present. Thus in any fever or slight derangement of health the movements of the intestines may be sluggish. This retards the normal emptying of the gall bladder and concentrates the bile so that stone formation is aided.

When large amounts of fat or rich foods are eaten there is a changed fat chemistry in the body and an increase in the cholesterol in the gall bladder. Gallstones are more frequent in the well fed and in gourmets and lovers of rich foods. Pregnancy not only slows up the activity of the intestines, but also makes a change in the fat nutrition, this also being reflected in the gall bladder. Gallstones are much more common in women who have borne children.

All these events being frequent happenings, we might expect gallstones to be frequent—and they are. Since cholesterol is difficult to keep in solution the wonder is they are not commoner.

After 40, Bowel Trouble is Most Dangerous

CONSTIPATION may easily become chronic after forty. Continued constipation at that time of life is productive of piles—and a host of other disorders.

Watch your bowels at any age. Guard them with particular care after forty. When they need help, a doctor knows what is best.

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," is a doctor's prescription for the bowels. Tested by 47 years' practice, it has been found thoroughly effective in relieving constipation and its ills for men, women and children of all ages. It has proven perfectly safe even for babies. Made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin, and other mild, harmless ingredients, it cannot gripe; will not sicken you or weaken you; can be used without harm as often as your breath is bad, your tongue is coated; whenever a headachy, bilious, gassy condition warns of constipation.

Next time, take a spoonful of this family doctor's laxative. See how good it tastes; how gently and thoroughly it acts. All druggists.

HEAVY FINE ON ONE DAMAGING LIBRARY BOOK

A book stolen from the public library has been returned minus its book plate, pocket, card, date slip, and some pages, and with a great deal of pencil scribbling and the gratuitous criticism "This book is not fit to read." Yet with this expressed opinion the thief returned the book to the boys and girls department.

It is nothing new for a book to be stolen from the library, but as a rule the thief is cautious about expressing his opinion of it. Neither is it new for a stolen book to be returned. But to steal a book, destroy it, criticize it as unfit and then return it to the children's department, is a bold and unusual crime. There is no possibility of finding the criminal short of a confession, but the laws of the state impose a heavy fine and imprisonment on anyone convicted of damaging a library book. This includes cutting or mutilating a book or magazine. Maximum fine is one hundred dollars or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding three months, or both at the discretion of the court. In addition he is liable to make good the damage.

Hoover's Lincoln Birthday Address To Be Broadcast

President Will Pay Tribute To Martyr President In Special Broadcast

President Herbert Hoover will pay his tribute to Abraham Lincoln in a special broadcast over both the Columbia and NBC networks on Lincoln's Birthday, Thursday, February 12, at 10 P. M., Eastern standard time.

The Chief Executive will speak to the Nation from the Lincoln study in the White House. It was in this study that the Great Emancipator carried on most of his work during the Civil War. The room now serves President Hoover as a study.

In the past several months, the President has received numerous invitations to speak at various gatherings and under the auspices of various organizations. Unable to accept all invitations, Mr. Hoover decided to use the radio for his Lincoln address. This will be his only Lincoln Day utterance.

Underground Dam Is Being Erected

(International News Service)
LEIGHTON, Pa., Feb. 4.—Construction of a large underground dam at High Mines, near here, which will prevent water from the Schuylkill river flowing into mines of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company is nearing completion.

Decision to construct the underground dam was made by the coal firm in order to control seepage into the workings so the flow can be controlled and drawn off. Installation of the dam will make possible holding of the water until the mine pumping plants have slack time and the mine reservoir can be emptied conveniently.

Previously, engineers for the coal company said, irregularity of seepage made the problem of pumping out the shafts one which demanded constant attention.

Air Commission Gets More Money

Governor Pinchot Recommends Increase To Aeronautics Commission

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 4.—Increased appropriations for use of the Aeronautics Commission will permit that agency to extend its functions during the next biennium. The governor in his budget recommendations to the General Assembly has suggested that the appropriations to the commission be almost double those allowed two years ago.

With more money available the commission will be able to establish several additional airways in the State. At the present time the commission has not been able to lay out any routes in the north-east or northwest sections of the State.

In his budget recommendations Governor Pinchot urged an appropriation of $250,000 for the commission's general expenses, and $200,000 for purchasing and equipping emergency landing fields.

During the present biennium the aeronautics commission was given $70,000 for landing fields and $162,400 for general expenses.

The commission together with the Department of Commerce has laid out several airways and these are equipped for night flying and emergency landing fields. With the money allowed two years ago three landing fields have been established. The airway from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia has been equipped for night flying.

OIL CITY, Pa., Feb. 4.—Hopes of pioneer oil producers of this region that the site of the famed Drake well, near Titusville, may be preserved as a historic memorial, have been heightened by endorsement of the project by the American Petroleum Institute.

A committee, headed by W. R. Boyd, Jr., executive vice president of the institute, has been named to draw plans for establishing the site as a national park. A boulder marker, erected by the Daughters of the American Revolution 20 years ago marks the Drake site, forerunner of the giant Pennsylvania crude oil industry.

(International News Service)
SHAMOKIN, Pa., Feb. 4.—A fire alarm sounded in Fairview, near here, and the clanging bells drew firemen to the most unusual blaze they had ever attended.

The fire was in the social room, over the fire department headquarters.

John Haines, a member of the department, it was discovered, had lit a cigarette, dozed off. The cigarette fell from his lips, ignited the chair in which he sat.

Firemen extinguished the blaze before much damage was done.

Farmer Commences Suit For $5,000

Disabled First In Legion Stand On Cash Payment

Make Known They Were Opposed To Originating Legislation On Matter

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 4.—Two outstanding declarations, in regard to the American Legion's attitude, endorsing the principle of immediate cash retirement of adjusted service certificates, are contained in the resolution adopted at the special January meeting of the National Executive Committee meeting.

The first is that legislation for such cash payment originated in congress, and that the Legion was opposed to initiating such legislation within itself.

The second is that the first and major activity of the Legion has been and always will be the care of the disabled and their dependents.

The stand of the Legion that nothing must be allowed to interfere with the disabled legislation was made definite and unmistakable.

Before the resolution was adopted unanimously by the National Executive Committee, a sub-committee, which later reported it, first submitted one declaring the policy of the National Executive Committee as to its right to interpret action of a national convention. This resolution, likewise, was adopted.

The national convention in Boston had tabled a resolution which favored the payment of 80 per cent of the adjusted service certificate. The special meeting of the National Executive Committee was called to determine what stand, if any, the Legion should take in view of the action of the national convention.

Lee Whitacre has returned after spending the week end in Vandergrift where he attended the funeral of his aunt.

Mrs. L. A. Lytle has received word from her daughter Mrs. McCrum that her niece has improved.

OLD GOLD SPILLS THE BEANS IN BOSTON

Upsets rival brands with Sweeping Victory, in Ripley's latest Taste-Test

They held another "tea-party" at Boston the other day. "Down with the tyranny of habit!" was the cry. "Let's find out which cigarette really tastes the best."

From Back-Bay to the Fishing Docks, it was another Boston rebellion. Throwing brand prejudice overboard... more than a thousand Boston smokers compared the four leading cigarettes, with the brand names hidden.

They didn't know which was which. All they wanted was to pick out the best tasting cigarette.

At Lexington... modern Minute Men needed hardly a minute to give O. G. a 2 to 1 victory. At Bunker Hill, OLD GOLD'S cool, throat-easy quality completely routed the enemy.

"No taxation without representation"... said the Boston of long ago. "No throat-tax... and unlimited smoking joy" says the Boston of today.

Probe Taking Of Lodge Cards By Federal Agents

Inquiry Made Into Practice Of Dry Agents In Con-fiscating Lodge Cards

EAGLES LODGE IS ENTERING PROTEST

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 4.—Assistant U. S. Attorney Raymond D. Evans today confirmed reports that he had made inquiry to R. S. Krause, deputy prohibition administrator, seeking to ascertain if prohibition agents had used confiscated membership cards of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, in gaining entrance to lodges of the organization.

Evans stated his inquiry was embodied in a letter mailed to the deputy administrator on January 21 last. Krause, however, would neither confirm nor deny the incident and referred questioners to Evans.

The matter was brought to the attorney's attention by J. Earl Jacobs, clerk of the Allegheny county common pleas court, who showed Evans a warning circular to all Aeries of the lodge throughout the state by A. J. Daugherty, state secretary.

A membership card issued to Jacobs by the Homestead lodge was listed as among others alleged to be in the possession of prohibition agents.

Reports here were to the effect that confiscated cards, issued to Homestead lodge members, had been used to gain entrance to Eagle headquarters at Harrisburg shortly before the inauguration of Governor Pinchot.

Two Suspects In Robbery Arrested

Bandit Suspects Captured By Pittsburgh Police In Crowded Theater

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 4.—William Logan and Glen Crandell, arrested in a crowded downtown theatre as bandit suspects, faced a grilling in the hands of county detectives today in connection with holdups in Turtle Creek valley.

The men were taken into custody yesterday when the mother of an 18-year-old boy, James Murry, of East Pittsburgh, told police the pair had given her son two suitcases containing jewelry believed to have been stolen, detectives said.

Logan had two revolvers and Crandell a pistol when arrested, police said. Both were overpowered and disarmed after a brief struggle.

Young Boy Fatally Injured By Machine

(International News Service) GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 4.—John Newmyer, seven-year-old schoolboy of near Irwin, is dead today of injuries received last night when he is said to have run directly in the path of an approaching automobile.

Leo Harold, driver of the car, took the boy to the hospital where he died soon after admittance. The boy ran in front of the machine, Harold said.

Would Exclude Communists From Place On Ballot

Representative Fish Urges State Governments To Exclude Name

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent of the New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 4.—Officials of the state government of Pennsylvania and the heads of the Pennsylvania legislature, along with the government officials of other states, are being urged by Representative Hamilton Fish Jr. of New York, chairman of the special House committee for the investigation of Communist activities in the United States, to have the Communist party excluded from future ballots in the state.

Congressman Fish has sent to the governors, attorney generals and the heads of the legislative branches of each state a copy of the report of the special committee calling attention to the committee's recommendation that the Communist party in this country, which is a section of the Communist International, be declared illegal.

To this end Congressman Fish feels that appropriate action should be taken by the legislatures and the executive in each state to have the Communist party barred from occupying a place on the ballot.

In 1928 the Communist presidential ticket appeared on the ballot in 34 states, Pennsylvania among them. The Fish committee in its report pointed out that whereas there were only 4,720 Communist votes cast in Pennsylvania during 1928, a presidential year, the Communist ticket in the state received 8,950 votes in 1930, an off year.

AGITATOR CAUGHT CHEATING

Agitator Ant made a face at Live-

ly. "Do you mean to tell me I should not vote for myself when of all the ants I like myself the best? And why not, pray tell?"

"Because it isn't good manners!" began Live, but Agitator Ant interrupted.

"I care nothing about good manners. I want to be the leader of the union. Antennae up! Those who want to follow me, say so by raising the right feeler!"

It was no use to argue with Agitator Ant, so Livey asked the ants to raise their right antennae and began to count:

"One, two, three, four!" Livey came to a dead stop, then cried out indignantly.

"That's not fair! I told you to raise the right feelers, and some of you put up the left pair, too. If I hadn't caught you, Agitator Ant would have more antennae in her count than she ought to. Say, you over there! You are doing the same thing! And so are you, and you! Listen here, Agitator. You can't get away with anything like this with me. Play fair and square or don't play at all, that's my motto. And you're cheating."

"I have a right to cheat if I want to!" muttered Agitator Ant. "It's none of your business!"

"Oh, yes, it is! I am counting the votes, and I intend to make a good job of it. We'll start all over. Right feelers up, and right feelers only, if you please. Very good. One, two, three, four."

"Sisters, Chief Engineer played fairly, but Agitator and her friends didn't. I am glad to tell you Chief Engineer got twice as many votes as Agitator did," announced Livey.

"The election is over. Chief Engineer is elected head of the union!"

Don't Pay

If This Fails To Knock Your Cold In Few Hours

Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

Hill's Cascara Quinine is GUARANTEED to knock a cold in a jiffy. To relieve the pain, to break up tightness. If it fails, you pay nothing.

This guarantee is made to prove to those who have tried fifty ways to lose a cold, that the surest way is to go back to first principles and use something that you KNOW does the work.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. You'll feel like a new person almost before you know it. Pain eased, congestion broken; your mind cleared and yourself ready to go back on the job with a wallop.

That's because Hill's is a scientific formula made to DO ONE THING WELL: to knock colds in a hurry—not to cure a score of different troubles.

Costs only a few cents at any drug store. Get package now. Your money back if it fails. Try it—you'll be glad that you did.

Sons Accuse Father Of Fatal Shooting

Brother Of Suspected Murderer At Wellsville, Ohio, Also Held

(International News Service)

WELLSVILLE, O., Feb. 4.—Based on the asserted statements made by Theodore Freeman, brought back here from Kentucky, and Canada Freeman, brothers, a first degree murder charge today had been filed against Farmer Freeman, 52, the father, in connection with the fatal shooting of James Hoskins, 38, in a street fight here on March 16, 1923.

Chief of Police John H. Fultz said the charge was filed as a result of the sons' statements that their father shot Hoskins while the latter was lighting Lloyd McAdoo, who was stabbed.

William H. Freeman, brother of the suspect, is also held in connection with the stabbing of McAdoo.

Costly Bridge Is Nearly Completed

(International News Service)

BRISTOL, Pa., Feb. 4.—Expected at a cost of $1,500,000, the Burlington bridge across the Delaware river here is virtually complete today. The last bit of steel in the towering structure has been laid and the concrete floor poured, but the span will not be thrown open to the public until about April, according to present plans.

Completion of the bridge brings to a realization the hopes of both towns for several decades. The span connects Bristol and Burlington, N. J., and eliminates ferryboats and launches formerly used to transport passengers, vehicles and freight from one city to the other.

The bridge is of the vertical lift type, the center span being constructed so a large section can be raised to permit passage of vessels up the Delaware to Trenton. The roadway on the bridge is divided into two 10-foot traffic lanes.

NIGHT COUGHING

Quick and Safe Way To Stop It!

Whatever it is due to—cold, catarrhal condition of the throat, dust irritations or smoking—night coughing can and should be stopped! Nothing will pull you down faster, for it not only deprives you of needed sleep, but it tears you to pieces.

At the first sign of a cough, take good old "Piso's for Coughs."

It does the five things necessary to stop a cough and repair the damage done. It checks the cough spasm, loosens the mucus, opens the air passages and soothes the inflamed tissues. At the same time, it has a tonic value that tends to build up what the cough tears down. Only Piso's supplies these five vital effects and it contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach. Safe to give even to babies. All druggists sell Piso's in 35c and 60c sizes. Be sure you get "Piso's for Coughs."

CARRYING ON FOR A PRINCIPLE

AWAITING HOSPITALIZATION

The Legion maintains a national, a departmental and a post service for the disabled, and many veterans, who have been placed in jail because of mental illness due to their war service, have been given hospital care through Legion efforts. Jails are being used more and more for this class of disabled, because of the overcrowded condition of state institutions, and the Legion is sponsoring legislation to increase government hospital facilities to care for them. Sometimes a few weeks will make the difference between a restoration of health, and that oblivion from which there is no return.

Receiver Asked For State Fair Park Company

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 4.—Appointment of a receiver for the State Fair Park, Inc., the organization which has been operating the amusement concessions at the fair grounds here, was asked Tuesday in a suit filed in circuit court. The action was instituted on behalf of the News Publishing Company, Thomas P. Thoner, Carl G. Bachmann and other creditors.

The bill of complaint charges the defendant is "hopelessly insolvent" and that its debts amount to more than $18,000 while its assets cannot be placed higher than $10,000. The bill charges mismanagement in operation of the park.

State Commander Of Legion Scores Mellon For Stand

Charles I. Engard, Philadelphia Also Attacks Facilities For Disabled

SENATORS SCORED FOR DISLOYALTY

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 4.—Deplored "disgraceful" hospitalization facilities for disabled war veterans, Charles I. Engard, of Philadelphia, state commander of the American Legion today was on record with the assertion that "the time has come when the American Legion should investigate the financial situation in Washington."

Speaking before the tenth annual commanders' banquet here, Engard scored Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, for his opposition to the payment of soldier bonus certificates and charged Pennsylvania senators and congressmen with disloyalty to war veterans.

Conditions are bad. Engard declared that the Legion had been trying for 12 years, thru the state's two senators and 36 congressmen, to better the hospital situation for disabled veterans. He added:

"I regret to say that our conditions today are worse than ever before."

Turning specifically to Philadelphia, Engard said:

"The buildings at the present mental hospital in Grays Ferry road have been standing for a hundred years. They are a fire trap, a disgrace not only to the city of Philadelphia but to the veterans of the late war who are sent there from all parts of the state." He asserted that in some cases disabled men had been placed in jails because no beds were available for them.

Assailing Mellon's stand on the bonus, Engard denied that increased taxes would result from payment of the bonus and, conversely, that such payment by increasing currency circulation would aid business and the unemployment situation generally.

Pittsburgh Realtor Called By Death In Baltimore Hospital

Frank T. Lauinger, 56, Vice President Of Oil City Derrick, Is Dead

(International News Service)
BALTIMORE, Feb. 4.—Arrangements were being made here today to send the body of Frank T. Lauinger, 56, of Pittsburgh, back to Pennsylvania for burial.

Lauinger, prominent Pittsburgh realtor and vice president of the Derrick Publishing Company, publishers of the Oil City, Pa., "Derrick," died in Johns Hopkins hospital yesterday following an operation a week ago.

The operation, which was first believed to have been successful, followed an illness that confined Lauinger to a Munich, Germany, hospital for several weeks in the summer of 1929. On Monday, Lauinger's condition became critical and yesterday he died.

Mrs. Lauinger was at his bedside when the end came as was P. C. Lauinger, his son. Mrs. Lauinger is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Boyle of Oil City. Boyle was the founder of the Oil City "Derrick."

Women Urged To Buy To Take Advantage Of Unusual Values

By DR. LILLIAN M. GILBRETH
Chairman, Women's Division, President's Emergency Committee
For Employment.

Women controlling more than 80 per cent of all retail purchasing power, can get exceptional values for their money by spending now and at the same time make a contribution toward decreasing unemployment.

A dollar today will buy one-fourth more than it would in 1926, which means that it is wise to replenish ward-robes at this time and to buy furniture and household equipment. The money spent results in more orders being placed by retail stores, more goods produced by factories, and more persons engaging in commercial and industrial activities.

But it is not enough to be sure that your dollar is buying wisely. It should at the same time buy a job for someone. And so I would like to follow your dollar beyond its purchase of goods or material for improving your home back to the retail store and the factory.

You buy: This means more retail clerks to serve you; it means that the store can buy goods to replace the ones you have taken from the shelves. This again means orders in factories, and orders mean that idle, unhappy—often hungry—people are put back to work. Do you know what an idle factory is like or an idle factory town, or how different they are from busy ones? When industrial life is paralyzed, home life is paralyzed too. And you can stimulate this paralyzed condition into action.

Let us take an example: "If 80,000,000 sheets and pillow cases were bought by the women of the United States in the next three months, that would give employment to 64,000 workers for one year. In the same way, your starting in the many fields listed, will start idle machines and idle men to work.

Fortunately, there is a growing realization today that industry is a blessing and that real leisure comes only after work: that "this machine age" is the source of leisure as well as work; that instead of trying to attack machines and industry as an unfortunate part of American activity, we must understand them, use and develop them as basic in our scheme of life. Not only has the country a different feeling toward industry than ever before, but industry itself has a different feeling toward its own responsibilities. Increasingly it emphasizes the importance of the human element.

Proceedings In House Speeded

Speaker Goodnough Wants
Wednesday Sessions
Started Next Week

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 4.—Orders to speed up the proceedings of the House have been issued by Speaker C. J. Goodnough to committee chairmen. The speaker is anxious to have committees meet and consider bills in order that the House can get a calendar.

Mr. Goodnough has let it be known that he wants to start holding Wednesday sessions of the House next week. That will hold the members here another day and give committees an opportunity to function.

So far little committee work has been done. There have been more than 300 bills dropped into the hopper. Most of these measures provide for general legislation. Comparatively few of the bills so far introduced carry appropriations or are for roads.

Once the House begins to hold sessions on Wednesday committee meetings can be held Monday night, Tuesday and also Wednesday morning. That will be ample time for the various committees to get together and consider the legislation in their custody.

Socks Bring Girl Romantic Reaction

(International News Service)
CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Feb. 4.—Socks, the wearing kind, are hardly romantic, no matter how you view them.

But a pair, knitted more than a dozen years ago, brought a romance reaction here.

During the war, a local hosiery manufacturing company was filling government orders for socks. A girl employee, whose name was not divulged, wove her name and address into one pair.

A few days ago, came a letter from a soldier in the Philippines, acknowledging receipt of the socks and their message.

YOUTH INDICTED IN PRANK DEATH

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 4.—A true bill was returned by a Washington county grand jury against John Graham, charged with the death of William Pettit recently.

The case is most unusual. Graham and Pettit were close friends. Graham a contracting truck driver and Pettit the attendant at a gasoline station where Graham made his purchases. They were playing pranks on each other, a compressed air hose finally being brought into play. Graham pressed the hose against Pettit's body, causing internal injuries and death.

Many Cripples Found In State

Hundred Thousand Dollars
Spent Annually For Relief In Pennsylvania

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent Of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 4.—A total of 17,000 cripples are reported in Pennsylvania, and an additional 10,000 are estimated who are not reported, according to a questionnaire just sent to each state throughout the country by W. S. Johnson, president of the Crippled Children's Society of West Virginia, which was read into the Congressional Record by Senator Henry D. Hatfield of West Virginia in urging his plan for rehabilitation of crippled and deformed children.

The State has an annual appropriation of $36,000 and local governments appropriate $24,129 annually for the relief of cripples in the State. A total of $39,569 is spent by private agencies, making a total of $99,698 spent by all agencies.

The average per capita cost for hospitalization of cripples in Pennsylvania is $3 per day; the average charge by orthopedic surgeons is $50 and the average weekly charge by hospitals is $21, it was reported.

ADVOCATES LIMIT OF 800 INMATES TO ONE PRISON

(International News Service)
DENVER, Colo., Feb. 4.—Half the inmates in county jails throughout the country are there awaiting trial and as such are guests, not prisoners, Rev. Charles N. Lathrop of New York, told members of the congregation of St. John's Episcopal Church here recently.

Reverend Lathrop, who is secretary of the Episcopal National Social Service, gave his listeners a great deal to think about on the matter of prison reform, a subject in which interest, and one which has assumed a position of paramount importance in Colorado since the riots in the state penitentiary at Canon City in October, 1929.

"Colorado should not incarcerate its more than 1,000 long-term convicts within the walls of one penitentiary," Reverend Lathrop said. "A limit of 800 prisoners should be placed in one prison."

Rev. Lathrop told his listeners he had become interested in prison reform through an uncle who was at one time warden of San Quentin prison in California.

Speaking on the subject of the number of prisoners in one institution Reverend Lathrop pointed out that when more than 800 are imprisoned in the same prison the routine becomes as impersonal as army discipline. Different kinds of convicts, he said, should be segregated according to their dependability and character. The work of the psychiatrist is of equal importance with that of the welfare of convicted criminals.

gated according to their dependability and character. The work of the psychiatrist is of equal importance with that of the welfare of convicted criminals.

"Understand," he said, "I am not trying to make a prison term a holiday. I am merely interested in any system that would prove remedial to morally sick men."

Convicts should be made to work, Reverend Lathrop believes, but without wages. Out of these wages he should pay for his board and room, even though these things are compulsory. The amount earned above this amount should go towards providing for his family or to the convict's credit in a fund which he can withdraw on leaving the prison.

"The objection that convicts were competing with outside labor could be met by having them produce only goods needed by the penitentiary," he said. "Every penitentiary should have a large enough farm or farms to supply it with farm products."

Classes along practical and cultural lines were recommended for prisoners.

"Many of the prisoners would like to continue where they left off in school," he explained. "A large number should study reading and writing. Craftsmanship ought to be taught to those that want it, although they will find following a trade or a craft in the competition of the outside world much harder than in prison."

Sour Stomach Two-Minute Relief!

Calcium carbonate, the modern scientific anti-acid (2½ times as effective as soda) perfectly blended with Magnesium and other soothing, healing ingredients in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will dispel those sour risings and the unsettled condition of the stomach after too heavy a meal in a couple of minutes.

These tablets will neutralize several times their weight of acid material in the stomach and they start to work the moment they're swallowed. For lasting benefits purchase a 25c Handy Pocket of your druggist, and make the Monday-to-Sunday test.

Use these tablets after meals and avoid all discomfort—they provide a safe and harmless anti-acid.

Bill Would Place Members Of School Board On Salaries

(From News Bureau)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 4.—Under the provisions of a bill presented by Mrs. Lillith M. Wilson, Socialist member of the House of Representatives from Reading, Pa., school directors of the districts of the second class, which includes New Castle, would be placed upon salary, instead of serving without compensation as they do at the present time.

The bill provides that the terms of all nine directors in second class districts, now serving shall terminate as of December 1st, 1931, and in their place five directors shall be elected, two of them for two years and three for four years, and after that, the terms of each shall be for four years.

Graded Salaries
The salary for such directors shall not be less than $1,000 a year. In districts under 50,000 population the salary shall be $1,500 per year. In districts of from 50,000 to 70,000 the salary shall be not exceeding $2,000, in districts between 70,000 and 100,000 the salary shall not exceed $2,500 and in districts over 100,000, it shall not exceed $3,000.

New Castle officially lacks by a few hundred, 50,000 people and under the provisions of this act the compensation could not be over $1,500 per year. The reason ascribed by Mrs. Wilson and her Socialist colleagues Darlington Hoopes is that putting a salary on the job of school director would give a working man a chance to serve on boards.

An unofficial canvass of members of the Committee on Education reveals a sentiment against the bill. It is argued that under the present system the board meets at night, it is possible to attract high class men and women to serve on school boards, whereas if it was a salaried job and they were expected to put in daylight hours, they would be disinterested.

The probabilities are that the bill will die in committee. Another bill, presented by Harper P. Barton, Democratic member from Fulton County would give temporary teaching certificates to men and women who have completed one year of study in colleges or state teachers colleges. The reason ascribed for this bill is that it would give poor young men and women an opportunity to make some money and then resume their studies. This bill will also probably die in committee as it is contrary to all the efforts of the education authorities in the past ten years to raise the standards of teachers.

Philadelphia has its usual educational "ripper" bill in, presented by Morris Root. This would abolish the present system of having the courts appoint directors in the cities of the first class (Pittsburgh and Philadelphia) and allow them to be elected as they are in other districts. This bill has been offered several times and each time has met its death in the committee. There is little reason to believe that it will not meet the same fate this session.

Major Jackson Gets New Supply Of Applications

Young Men Interested In Attending C. M. T. C. Camps Can Get Same

Major W. Fulton Jackson, chairman of the citizens' military training camp activities in Lawrence county, has just received a new supply of application blanks to be used by those young men of the district who desire to participate in the camp activities this coming summer.

He has already given out quite a few of these application blanks and as the quota of the district will probably be limited, those interested in attending the camps should get their applications without delay in order to have an opportunity of being accepted.

The blanks may be secured from Major Jackson, whose office is at Mercer and North streets.

Claim Statement In Sholler Case Filed At Court

Formal declaration of claim has been filed at the prothonotary's office by E. F. Sholler of the New Castle and Volant road, against the county of Lawrence. This is a suit based on an appeal from a report of viewers.

Sholler is claiming damages to his farm by reason of the building of the New Castle and Volant road. He says a fill was made near his home and a cut on another part of his farm, also and 11 pear trees were ruined; that water was turned in on his farm and that he will be compelled to erect new fences.

Desertion Charged In Divorce Case

$800 Diamond Ring Involved In Suit

H. D. Wise Says He Gave Diamond To Joe R. Rick As Security For Loan

H. D. Wise has filed a writ of replevin at the prothonotary's office against Joe R. Rick to secure possession of a diamond ring valued at $800. The diamond is a 2.74 carat stone set in a white gold ring.

According to the statement of claim, on December 24, 1928, Wise owned a diamond pin. The diamond was 2.74 carat, being set in a yellow gold pin. Wise borrowed $100 from Rick, giving him the pin for security. Wise claims that Rick had the stone set in a white gold ring.

On February 2, 1931, Wise says that he went to the place of business of Rick, tendered him the $100 he had borrowed with interest, and demanded the diamond ring. His request was refused. He then took out the writ of replevin to secure possession of the ring.

NOTES OF TROOP "F" 103RD CAVALRY OF NEW CASTLE

Pictures of the troop were taken Tuesday evening in the armory. One was taken of the entire outfit and another of non-coms. The photographs will be used in an article about the troop to be published in "Our Army".

Forty-five were present at the extra drill Tuesday evening. Guardsmen are to remember that another drill will be held this Friday evening as usual.

Members of the citizen's military committee who went to Harrisburg to confer with Adjutant General Davis on the proposed New Castle armory, have returned.

John D. Kennedy, lieutenant in the financial reserve and a member of the committee of citizen sponsors, was present at the drill Tuesday.

Beaver Falls Plans To Send Big Delegation

Will Have Two Hundred In Attendance At National Commander's Banquet

Message received by Harry M. Long, general chairman of the annual National Commander's Banquet to be held March 11, in the Cathedral under the auspices of the American Legion Posts of the Twenty-sixth congressional district. Twenty-sixth congressional district. The Beaver Falls Post of the Legion, indicates that that district proposes sending a very large delegation to the affair.

In his message Commander Weber asked for two hundred tickets, approximately fifty more than had every one of them was sold.

The Beaver Falls delegation will include the fifty piece band of that post and a drill team of forty men. The Beaver Falls delegation proposes coming here early enough to stage a parade on the streets of this city, prior to the banquet.

The committee can take care of two thousand at the banquet and present indications are that there will be at least that many present to greet National Commander Ralph T. O'Neil when he visits here. This city is most fortunate in securing the national commander, being one of the three places that the national commander will visit this year. He was at Pittsburgh last evening and will be in Philadelphia later, as well as here.

Major Guy J. Waddinger, commander of Perry S. Gaston Post and Glenn Berry, Senior Vice Commander of the post, were in Pittsburgh last night attending the banquet in that city in honor of the national commander.

SHEAKLEYVILLE SWAMP ON RAMPAGE AGAIN, THWARTS WORKERS' PROGRESS

Sheakleyville's great barrier of muck and vegetation, the now famous swamp that has balked the efforts of scores of laborers who worked six months to fill it with hundreds of tons of earth, until it was harnessed this week, has gone on another rampage.

The sides of the swamp, at first separated by the sinking vegetation for a distance of 500 feet, met Monday. Yesterday morning the job was apparently closed. That was at 4:30 a. m. Then at 8 a. m. the area of filled-in soil began to sink.

Now the work of filling will continue until the foundation has been made strong enough to bear the weight of a concrete road connecting Pittsburgh and Erie.

The huge project which has been allotted to private contractors by the state is situated about seven miles north of Sheakleyville. The object of filling the swamp is to complete route 19, between Pittsburgh and Erie.

Last August the Watson-Bowser company of Kittanning, the excavating contractors, started the work of reclaiming land at a point where the swamp was about 500 feet wide.

The work of filling was immediately begun by Boyles & Milson Supply company of 323 South Mill street, this city, the company announced the hauling and filling contract.

The New Castle company placed 40 men at work with 17 trucks. They worked day and night shifts of 10 hours each. Daily they dumped thousands of cubic yards of earth into the slowly sinking ground.

Since August the New Castle company has dumped 250,000 cubic yards, weighing approximately 400,000 tons.

For weeks the contractors found little change in the condition of the area which they were attempting to cover solid for road building. One of the Boyles & Milson foremen declares that the Watson-Bowser shovels had cleared about 15 acres of hilly land in order to get the earth for the filling operations.

Nearby hills were literally moved. Some of the shoveling was done on land where soil between 10 and 40 feet deep was leveled.

Each day scores of curious residents of the district visited the work and watched the shovels and trucks reclaim the swamp. A rumor originated in the little town nearby that a truck of the New Castle company had been lost in the treacherous swamp. W. H. Milson denied today that any truck had ever been lost in the sinking vegetation.

Measurements had been taken at the start of the operations and it was declared then that the depth of the swamp was 90 feet. That the reported depth was not correct is proven by daily loads of earth dumped into the apparent bottomless pit.

Mr. Milson, a member of the New Castle contracting firm, said today that there is no evidence of quicksand in the location. There may be quicksand at a very great depth, but it is so far below the dump operation that it does not hamper the work.

The real problem with which the men must cope is the thick vegetation and muck. That is where the real trouble is found.

The pressure of the tons of earth dumped into the vegetation has brought a new problem. The sides of the swamp have been raised in some places as high as 10 feet. This break can easily be explained. A bowl filled with dough presents the same problem. When the hand is placed with some pressure into the bowl the sides will rise. That is exactly what took place near Sheakleyville. The sides were forced up and with them went trees and other objects.

Now that the swamp has sunk after the sides have met, the contractors are at a loss as to what the future holds in store. But one thing is certain—the workers, Milson said, will continue. The contractors will not abandon the project.

Haskell And His Bride Set Sail For Italy Today

Editor of Kansas City Star Weds Widow Of Former Missouri Governor

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Henry Haskell, editor of the Kansas City Star, and his bride, formerly Mrs. Agnes Lee Hadley of St. Louis, sailed today on the Roma for a honeymoon in Italy.

They were married yesterday in St. Thomas's church.

Mrs. Haskell is the widow of Herbert S. Hadley, Governor of Missouri from 1909 to 1913 and Chancellor of Washington University. Haskell gave his age as 56.

The wedding was witnessed by Mrs. Haskell's son, John M. Hadley and Henry C. Haskell, a son of the editor, and Mrs. A. Ross Hill of Kansas City.

Haskell's first wife, Mrs. Isabel C. Haskell, died in 1923. His second wife, Mrs. Katherine Wright Haskell, a sister of Orville Wright, the pioneer aviator, died in 1929.

The prettier a girl is, the more she is looked after!

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Coates Speaks Over Wires To California Boy

No Difficult Job To Telephone California, Local Man Finds; Other Notes Of Ward

Experiencing no difficulty whatever, Greyson Coates of North Liberty street called Los Angeles, Cal., by telephone on Monday afternoon and conversed with Daniel De Marco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aquilano De Marco, 313 Montgomery avenue, this ward.

Although coming through several thousand miles of wire, the voice of young DeMarco was clear and there was no "static" at any time during the conversation. Aquilano De Marco, father of the youth, also spoke to his son.

Young De Marco left his home here early in last year. His people were unaware of his whereabouts until a short time ago, when they received a letter from him telling of his work in Los Angeles.

Mr. Coates put through the call and in less than five minutes he was speaking to Daniel in California. The young man announced his intention of returning to his home here by Easter time. He said that the weather in California is ideal and that he has been enjoying his stay there. However, he said that as soon as he earns his return passage he will be glad to get back to New Castle.

Surprise Party Honors Birthday

A petition, signed by 221 taxpayers of Hubbard was filed in Common Pleas Court on Monday, asking that Ferguson be ousted as marshal as a result of alleged intimacy with former Hubbard woman now residing in Youngstown.

Children's Division Meeting Thursday

Expect Every District To Be Represented At Conference Here

It is thought that every district of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association will be represented at the Children's Division Institute to be held at the Second United Presbyterian church, County Line St. both afternoon and evening tomorrow, Thursday February 5th. At 6 o'clock there will be a Friendship supper for those making reservation.

The leader of the Institute will be Miss Lillian E. Reed, Children's Division superintendent of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association. She will give an address, hold conferences and conduct a "Question Box."

Rev. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church will give the address at the evening session on the theme "For Their Sakes." There will also be Children's Division conferences at the evening session.

There will be awards of two instructive books given to the Sabbath School of Lawrence County as follows:

First award—to the county Sabbath school having the best percentage of officers and teachers of Primary Department present at Institute.

Second award—to county Sabbath school having the best percentage of officers and teachers of Junior Department present at Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pulkerson, of Ellwood City, spent Tuesday with friends here.

Joseph Kennedy and daughter, Merrill of Ellwood City, were callers in town on Tuesday.

H. H. Hosler and family of Sharon, were guests at the home of J. H. Hosler, recently on Cherry street.

Miss Virginia Stenger, who has been visiting friends and relatives here for several days, has returned to Warren, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Parker of Ellwood City, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hosler, 516 Cherry street, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Williams, of North Ashland avenue, are visiting friends and relatives in Warren, O.

Observations In 7th Ward

There is a very charming fir tree beside house No. 705, on North Cedar street. It has a good start in life and if it keeps up its reputation it will be a splendid Christmas tree next year.

Not only did L. B. Anderson's canary "get circles under its eyes," but it kicked up its heels and died, all because of the smell of fresh paint in its nostrils. That happened a long time ago. Now there is another bundle of yellow feathers in the cage and no paint is allowed to enter the room until Dicky is removed.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad station received its regular winter quota of coal lumps, Monday afternoon. The coal was delivered right to the door on a railroad car and was dumped beside the station with the use of a crane. One man was able to do it all. That is service.

How would you weigh a live chicken? Not so simple as it sounds, but a local meat store owner has it down "pat." His method is this—put the hens in a burlap bag. Put the bag on the scales, and there you are! Just like that.

For reducing there is nothing better than a trip to North Ashland avenue, via the path up the hill this side of the watering trough. It is much more effective than diet or "Coue."

They always blame it on the wives. Heard a local man complain in a Liberty street store, that his wife had asked him to fix the clock at home. He opened it up and the insides jumped out, hitting him kersmack on the face. Now it is in the hands of a repair man and who knows what the bill will be? If his wife hadn't asked him to fix it—

A capitol house greeted Rev. C. G. Farr on Sunday evening at the Mahoning Methodist church and the sermon on Palestine was enthusiastically received by the large congregation. Many of the people who heard Dr. Farr have asked that he give another sermon soon.

Seen on North Cedar street the other day—three proud ducks walking nonchalantly "Indian file."

Signs of spring—boys flying kites on the other side of the viaduct. It was a good kite day and they flew high.

Bank President Is Returned To Connellsville

Linford E. Ruth, Professes Ignorance Of Embezzlement Charges

(International News Service) UNIONTOWN Pa., Feb. 4.—Claiming ignorance of embezzlement charges being prepared against him which police say will eventually total $700,000, Linford E. Ruth, former president of the now defunct Title and Trust Company of Western Pennsylvania, at Connellsville, today was scheduled to arrive here in the custody of A. A. Downing, a Fayette county detective.

The bank of which Ruth was president was closed last July by the state banking department whose statement described the condition of the bank as greatly weakened by "frozen assets."

Ruth was served last night with a warrant charging him with the embezzlement of $60,000 through the discounting of a worthless mortgage. Other informations are now being prepared which will bring the total of Ruth's alleged peculations still higher, Downing said.

School Directors Are In Session At Harrisburg Today

Notable Educational Workers Will Address Gathering Of State Directors

VITAL PROBLEMS TO BE DISCUSSED

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 4.—Taxation and legislation, affecting the educational system of the state, were the two subjects slated for intensive discussion today at the sessions of the State School Directors Association, which began its annual convention in the auditorium of William Penn high school here.

Both topics will be presented to delegates by a sizable array of noted educational workers.

Dr. M. S. Bentz, president of the State County School Superintendents Association, Dr. Harris Hart, former superintendent of public instruction, and Representative Elwood J. Turner, Delaware, will head the list of speakers appearing before the session this afternoon.

Members of the School Directors Association will be greeted by Governor Gifford Pinchot.

Tonight, the annual banquet of the group will be held and a public reception will be held at the Capitol by Governor and Mrs. Pinchot.

Sessions of the school directors were being held jointly with those of the Association of School Board secretaries, who choose officers for the coming year at their meeting.

Clarence Wylie, of Arnold, was named president of the school board secretaries; Clifford F. Frey, of Bethlehem was chosen vice-president; D. D. Hammelbaugh, Harrisburg, secretary, and W. C. Wehn, Johnstown, treasurer.

Revision of the state school tax passed by the 1929 session of the legislature and exemption of all school buses from gasoline tax and license fee regulations were recommended to the legislature in a resolution adopted by the secretaries.

Several Of Speakers At Grain Exhibit Discuss Corn Raising

About one hundred and fifty people were present at the Westfield Grange Hall on Monday evening to view the exhibition of quilts and grains.

Nearly a hundred quilts, bedspreads and coverlets were on display. Many of them showed many patient hours of applique and quilting. One of the most interesting was a "mathematical star" made in 1844.

Another unique quilt was one that was made in 1876 and contained one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six patches. Another interesting one was all white, very finely quilted, made many years ago by Allen Stewart's mother. There were a number of hand woven coverlets each of them over one hundred years old.

The program of the evening was opened by James Kelso who gave as the purpose of the exhibition a desire to promote the agricultural welfare of the community and to show what the community is producing. He emphasized the fact that we must advertise our community if we are to attract the right type of farmers to the farms that are being sold and rented.

Miss Elizabeth Hillier, home economics instructor in the North Beaver Township high school gave a short talk on the aims of the home economics course in the high school.

Charles B. Patton who has been interested in corn breeding for several years, talked on corn breeding and cultural practices. He discussed the points to be emphasized in choosing a type of field corn adaptable to this locality, as early maturity, resistance to disease, and greater feeding value. He then explained briefly the cultural practices of plowing, fertilizing, cultivation and harvesting.

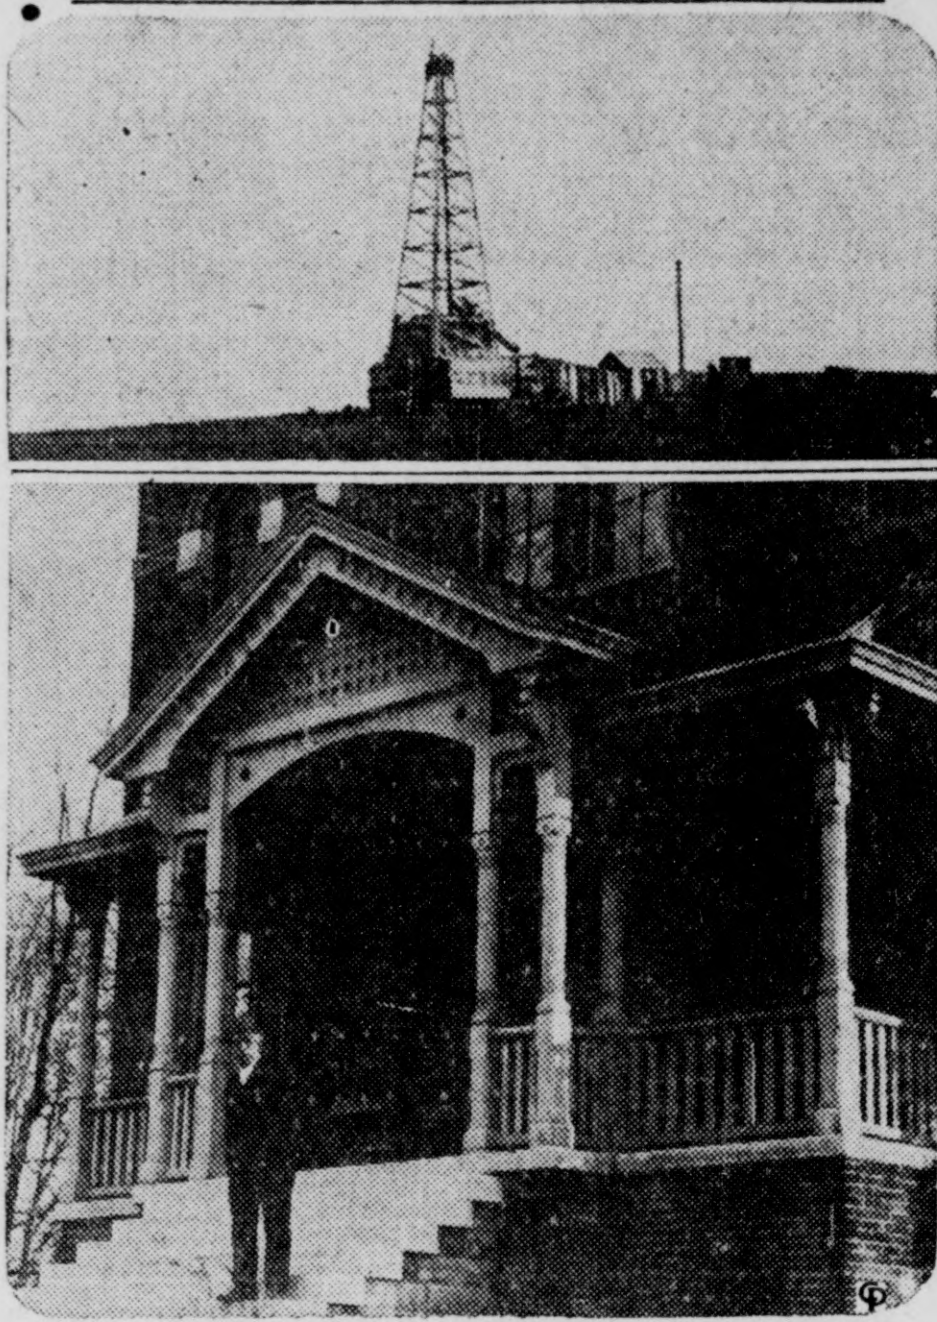

J. B. Hund, vocational agriculture supervisor at the North Beaver school explained the corn germination test which the students have been making, using three different types of testers.

Mr. Gridley, county farm bureau agent from Beaver county, who acted as judge for the seed corn and small grains, gave a brief discussion on things to look for in judging grains, after which Mr. Guy Pulerton read the results of the judging.

The Grange orchestra under the direction of Mr. John Brewster played several numbers during the evening.

BEAVER OFFICER REPORTED INJURED
BEAVER, Pa., Feb. 4.—Arthur W. Coombs, Aliquippa, chairman of the board of Beaver county commissioners, is reported to have been injured in an automobile accident at Jacksonville, Fla., where he is spending a two weeks' vacation. The extent of his injuries could not be learned. Dr. O. A. Kratzert, Aliquippa, son-in-law of Coombs, said today he had heard about the accident but had received no direct message from Coombs.

OIL BRINGS WEALTH TO POOR FARM

Henceforth oil will help support the poor farm of Vanderburgh county, Indiana, at Evansville. A well has been sunk to a depth of 927 feet into the oil sand and A. L. Laubscher, superintendent of the infirmary, believes there will be a noticeable reduction in the cost of operation of the institution as a result of the discovery. Photo shows the rigging of the well and the superintendent standing upon the front steps of the main building.

Chicago Cripple Is Severely Hurt By Hoodlum Gang

Farmer Finds Cripple Nailed In Rough Box And Badly Injured—Was Tortured

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—A farmer found George Wittbrod, 34 year old cripple, nailed in a coffin rough box in a roadside ditch today where he had been left by a gang of seven hoodlum kidnapers.

Released from the coffin box, Wittbrod was found to be suffering from severe injuries inflicted by his abductors. The victim told police that the hoodlums tied him to a cross in All Saints cemetery and whipped him. Tiring of this they threatened to kill him and threw him into a grave and set fire to straw they had piled there.

Discovering a new form of torture, the gang then nailed him in a rough box, lowered it into a fresh grave and then threw dirt on the coffin. Then they tied the box to the rear of their automobile and dragged it for three miles to the lonely spot where Wittbrod was found, still imprisoned in the box, by George Osterman, a farmer.

Wittbrod is a cripple and, according to police, is the butt of practical jokes by neighborhood hoodlums. The victim was able to give the name of six of the men and police were searching for them today.

"Gee, it's good"

• said LUCIENNE, age 2 1/2 years

For GROWN-UPS, too,—doctors urge it as a building-up tonic!

• You mothers—who find it hard to make youngsters take cod-liver oil—listen to this:

"My two little ones raise an awful fuss when I try to give them plain cod-liver oil. They hate it," Mrs. Alice Burgess told us when we called at her home at 23 Curtis Street, Bloomfield, N. J.

Then we asked her youngsters, one of whom is pictured above, to try Scott's Emulsion of Cod-Liver Oil. They each took a spoonful.

"Gee, it's good," said Warren. "I like it," smiled Lucienne.

Pleasanter to take—but that isn't all!

Pale, thin, run-down children—they need cod-liver oil. Give it to them the pleasant way—give them Scott's Emulsion.

Scott's Emulsion hasn't that strong "fishy" taste. It doesn't upset even delicate stomachs. It brings you purest, Norwegian cod-liver oil in its pleasantest form—a perfect emulsion. Easier to take—easier to digest. You get more good out of Scott's Emulsion and you feel the benefits quicker.

Scott's Emulsion is rich in vitamin A, the disease-resisting vitamin. It is rich in vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin that prevents rickets. It also contains vital mineral elements that aid in forming sound bones and teeth. This gives Scott's Emulsion a special advantage for growing children, infants, nursing and expectant mothers. Get Scott's Emulsion of Cod-Liver Oil to-day, at your druggist's. Watch cheeks grow rosy. See youngsters gain new weight and pep.

POLICE OFFICER STOPS BURGLARY SUSPECT WITH REVOLVER SHOT

Patrolman Hartman Fires When Suspect Fails To Stop

Prisoner Drops With Broken Leg—Police Believe Burglaries Solved

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 4.—Patrolman Ernest Hartman's gun is thought by county authorities to have cleared up some robberies in Ellwood City and vicinity, when he brought down Frank Galford, age 40, of Newport, who is on parole from the Western Penitentiary.

As Patrolman Hartman was making his rounds he reports that he saw Galford attempting to jimmy a window in the home of Rev. Bert Williams, pastor of the Baptist church on Fountain avenue at 7-20 p. m. Tuesday. Calling upon the man to surrender Hartman started toward him, whereupon Galford started to run, the officer reports.

Fires In Air
Pulling his gun Hartman fired three warning shots into the air, but Galford continued to flee. Drawing down on the fleeing man Hartman fired two shots at him, one of them hitting him below the knee, breaking his leg. This stopped him and Hartman placed him under arrest, and had him removed to the City hospital. His condition is not serious, Hartman being careful to hit him in a spot that was not vital.

Following the sensational capture of Galford, his car, a Packard sedan was searched. Here a full kit of burglar tools was found, and a screw driver was found upon his person, officers report. Continuing the search officers went to his home in Newport where they say a large quantity of loot was found. In this was included a lot of rings from which the precious stones had been removed, some watches, a sack of valuable old coins and other things. The man had $50.00 in cash on him when arrested, and wore a couple of valuable diamond rings. Chief of Police William Morrison had charge of the investigation and left nothing undone to unearth evidence.

May Clear Robberies
In the past few months there have been numerous robberies in and around Ellwood City, according to officers. Here a full kit of burglar tools was found, and a screw driver was found upon his person, officers report. Continuing the search officers went to his home in Newport where they say a large quantity of loot was found. In this was included a lot of rings from which the precious stones had been removed, some watches, a sack of valuable old coins and other things. The man had $50.00 in cash on him when arrested, and wore a couple of valuable diamond rings. Chief of Police William Morrison had charge of the investigation and left nothing undone to unearth evidence.

Under the law Galford must now return to the penitentiary and finish his term which will be three years. In addition he can be sentenced to another stretch from this county for the attempted burglary of the home of Rev. Williams.
A guard has been placed over him in the Ellwood City hospital and when he is sufficiently recovered he will be transferred to the Lawrence County jail. If possible he will be tried in the March term of criminal court.

Interesting Play Given At Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 4.—The Foreign Mission Society of the M. E. church held its regular meeting in the church rooms Tuesday evening.

There were 60 members present who enjoyed the interesting play given by Harold Burns, Professor Paul Winter, and Miss Margaret Reynolds. The play was in the line of missionary work. Also the male quartet rendered a few selections. It was composed of Paul Winters, Superintendent of Schools, W. Ray Smith, Edward Spencer, and John Brown.

The extension members were special guests on the occasion. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. W. Ray Smith and the devotionals of Mrs. J. I. Porter.

After the entertainment those present enjoyed a delightful tureen supper. The affair was completed as soon as possible so as the members could attend the evangelistic services.

Methodist Night At Revivals Here

Large Crowd Hears Dr. L. K. Peacock On Tuesday Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 4.—Rev. Dr. Luther K. Peacock addressed a large congregation in the United Presbyterian church Tuesday evening. This was the day set aside for the members of the Methodist Episcopal church and a good representation was present. The attendance was larger than that of the previous night and according to indications the attendance will increase with each evening.

Dr. Peacock based his sermon on the life of Nehemiah, the theme of which is, "I am doing great work and cannot leave." The doctor asserted we owe God for many good things in America and should not complain. We should not complain of the hard times of this vicinity when conditions are worse elsewhere. Indeed there are people in other places who require more aid than those in this community. The citizens here are rather fortunate and should be thankful to God.

One obstacle modern Christianity is now encountering is the tendency of preachers to keep away from their doctrines, which causes the people to wander away from Christ and the Church. The speaker told of Clarence Darrow who spends his time debating with members of the clergy against religion. He stated that Darrow was an atheist and destroyer of faith. This type of a life is a curse and injurious to the welfare of the human race, he declared.

Many people go to extremes in trying to enforce recognition of their personal liberty. "Most people who take such pains," suggested Dr. Peacock, "usually have something in their cellar." Many use this excuse of "personal liberty" as a blind for innumerable things. The doctor urged the people to throw away their hammer and get on their knees to let God guide them.

In illustrating that there is definite work for each one of us, Dr. Peacock gave as an example of a piccolo player in a large band who is not playing, thinking he was insignificant. The leader of the band had to stop it and ask the participation of the insubordinate because the harmony was broken up. Thus it is the same way with every person, if he does not do his definite work there is no harmony.

The services were started with the scripture being read by Rev. J. E. Caughey, which was followed with a prayer by Rev. Arthur M. Stevenson. The M. E. church quartet composed of Professor Paul Winter, Superintendent of Schools, W. Ray Smith, Edward Spencer, and John Brown, sang several selections.

Services will be continued tonight with the center section of the U. P. church auditorium reserved for the members of the First Baptist church. It is the aim of every church to have the largest representation present and the First Baptist church will strive toward this goal.

Mrs. Warren Thorpe Entertains Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 4.—Mrs. Warren Thorpe of Ewing Park delightfully entertained the members of the Dinner Bridge club at her home Tuesday evening.

Bridge was the main diversion of the evening with prizes going to Mrs. B. F. Ross and Mrs. William Bayers. Mrs. Catherine Hainer and Mrs. Herman Wilson were presented the guest prizes.

After a pleasant evening of cards the hostess served a delicious luncheon which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

WEINER ROAST IS FEATURE AT CLUB MEETING TUESDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 4.—The Fortnight club met at the home of Mrs. Carl Zeigler on Wayne avenue and enjoyed a pleasant evening of cards. Mrs. Ralph Conner and Mrs. J. J. Dunn were presented the prizes. After the entertainment the club held a weiner and marshmallow roast at an open fireplace and an interesting discussion occurred.

The club is scheduled to meet again in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Ralph Conner on Glenn avenue.

Mechanicals And Specialties Win

Two Exciting Games Are Played In Shelby Basketball League

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 4.—Two exciting games were played in the Shelby auditorium Tuesday evening, as the Mechanicals defeated the Office 23-22 and the Specialties the Hot Mills 31-35. Both of the winning teams had made a last minute rally to take the game.

In the first contest the Mechanicals had come on the field of battle with determination and as a result gave the strong office quintet a set-back, after the latter's good showing in defeating the Hot Mills last Saturday. The winners had set a fast pace in the initial quarter and was at the front at 9-2. The Office began to realize in the ensuing period that they had a game on their hands. As a result of a fast passing offense released by the Office, Reiley, Alexander, and Elder had begun to rally from the court and had come within one point of the lead of the Mechanicals, score 13-12. In the third quarter both teams had closed up and played defensively with little scoring on either side. The Office had come into the lead at the end of the period by a 16-14 score.

The last stanza was full of thrills for it was undecided which team would be the victor until the final whistle. The contest had become heated and it was one deadlock after another with the quintets alternating in breaking it. Elder and Leyda of the Office had come to the fore with a bucket apiece and took the lead by a 22-19 score. Then Labate of the Mechanicals had sunk two of the prettiest shots from the center of the floor and netted them the game for his team by a 23-22 score.

The Hot Mills had made a fine start in the second game and managed to keep the lead most of the time until the dying moments of the game. Clyde had started the scoring after the opening whistle and the Specialty soon managed to tie matters up. The contest revealed great rivalry throughout the entire game. The score was 6-7 at the end of the first quarter for the Specialty and 13-12 at half-way for the Hot Mills. In the ensuing period the Hot Mills still maintained the lead at 22-20. Neither team was able to obtain a commanding lead. Then in the closing stanza the score was deadlocked for the last time, at 24 all. A fast passing attack of the Specialty netted them 7 points to 1 for the Hot Mills. The game was won by a 31-25 score.

Malta Meeting Tuesday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Feb. 4.—The Isle of Malta held its semi-monthly meeting last night in the K. of P. Hall.

The organization initiated three new candidates in the black degree. The local degree team were assisted by two companions from the Ambridge lodge.

Also a nomination of officers took place for the ensuing term who will be elected at the next meeting on February 17. It was planned to send several members to a booster meeting to be held in Franklin, Pa. on February 14. The transportation is in charge of H. A. Donaldson, Frank Dibell and Ralph McMunn. Those desiring to attend will get in touch with either of these men. Arrangements were completed to attend the past commander's meeting in Pittsburgh on February 18. There they will hear Rev. Woods tell of his trip to the Holy Land. After the business meeting the organization enjoyed a social period.

FOUR-ON-HAND CLUB MEMBERS MEET TUESDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 4.—The Four-on-Hand Bridge club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. S. A. Hartung on Second street, Tuesday afternoon. The members enjoyed the pleasant afternoon with cards, and Mrs. Joseph Moehnd won first prize and Mrs. George Rapp the booby prize. A delicious 1 o'clock luncheon was served by the hostess.

The club will meet again next Tuesday, the place to be later designated.

William Harnes of Park avenue who has been ill for some time, is reported not improving.

Ellwood Tossers Lose To Mars 31-21

High Team Drops First Game Of Second Half Of Season

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 4.—The Ellwood City high school basketball team invaded Mars last night and dropped the opening game of the second round to the Mars boys by a score of 31-21.

Early indications of the game revealed that it was going to be very close and exciting contest. The score at the end of the first period was deadlocked at 5 all.

The Mars passers had resolved not to be beaten again by the Inglenien and especially on their home floor. They emerged with a 15-12 lead at the half-mark, and had managed to keep it from then on.

The Mars boys had things much their own in the final period, and gave the Ellwood City tossers a 31-21 defeat. They felt assured that this game atoned for the previous defeat they had had at the hands of the Ellwood aggregation.

J. Dematt and Dunhaven ran wild, each accumulating 5 baskets. Kennedy was Ellwood's best bet getting a like number. Lineup: Ellwood 21 Mars 31
Clock Kennedy.....J. Dematt

Clues May Solve Ellwood Robbery

Baker And Pearson Are Being Detained By State Policemen

William Baker and Everett Pearson, living near Ellwood City, were taken into custody yesterday by State Policemen Henecheck and Fox and are being held for investigation of the Keller store robbery in Ellwood City last November.

During November about $300 worth of overcoats and trousers were stolen from the store.

While working in Ellwood City yesterday the state police claim they came across clues to the store robbery. They located various persons wearing clothing, some of whom said they found the clothing. The investigation simmered down to men giving the names of William Baker and Everett Pearson. Baker claimed to have purchased the clothing he had from Pearson and state police visited the latter's home near Ellwood City.

They claim to have found nine overcoats and also trousers from which the label had been removed. The two men were detained for further investigation.

Kiwanis Scouts Banquet Guests

Forty Two Scouts Dine On Tuesday Evening; Executives Attend

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 4.—Forty-two scouts were the guests of the Kiwanis club at a delightful banquet last night at the Methodist church. This was the two troops, Nos. 11 and 13 sponsored by the club.

After the menu was served the Boy Scouts proceeded to give a demonstration. The demonstration was on scout work such as tying knots, fire building, first aid, etc. The program was in charge of Boy Scout committees from each troop.

Jack Pearson and Earle K. Herbert, scout commissioners, were special guests on the occasion. After the banquet Mr. Herbert had charge of the program.

CHEWTON

SPECIAL MUSIC
The class of ladies taught by Mrs. John Kelly presented the special music during the Sunday evening service. By special request the ladies sang "What Shall the Harvest Be" and another special was "The Lily of the Valley." Both numbers were very much enjoyed by the congregation.

BIBLE CLASS LEADS IN POINTS
Members of the Men's Bible class led the young men's class in points Sunday, both morning and evening. Since the beginning of the contest between these two classes the young men's class has been winning each Sunday until last Sunday when the Men's Bible class came out ahead. A few more Sundays such as last Sunday will put the Bible class well in the lead.

Treasury Department To Continue Balance Figures For Public

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Apparently there is no cure for America's national obsession for gambling on whether stocks will go up or down, whether Babe Ruth will knock one over the fence—whether one parrot will move off a wire before another, or on the state of the government's finances.

The question of betting on the conditions of the treasury has been given some consideration of the treasury department, especially within the last few weeks, because of the frequency with which this matter is being called to the attention of officials, it was learned today.

Lotteries on several sets of figures including the daily cash balance of the treasury, daily and monthly customs receipts and expenditures, are being conducted. Officials said apparently these lotteries are reaching the proportions of operation on a national scale, but they expressed doubt that anything could be done about it.

A few days ago a letter was received at the treasury from an individual who said he had been the inmate of a tuberculosis sanitarium was unable to work but a day or two a week and was having extreme difficulty in supporting his family. He suggested if the treasury could tip him off what the treasury balance would be the following Friday it would "fix" him up.

Daily Statement.
Officials said they would continue to make public the daily statement unless the gambling developed into a serious "national scandal." They admitted it would be useless to eliminate any particular set of figures in the statement, since the number-game gamblers would transfer the basis of their lotteries to other figures.

The daily statement is issued under treasury regulations, the first having been published in January, 1895. For years prior thereto a daily statement of the finances had been prepared in pen and ink but was not issued to the public. It was found highly convenient for administrative purposes and is now considered virtually indispensable.

The only law providing for publication of periodical statements of the financial situation is in the revised statutes, section 257, which requires the secretary of the treasury to publish once a month in a newspaper at the seat of government certain figures. The daily statement is now issued in lieu of that requirement.

New Regulation.
On July 1, 1930, Secretary Mellon issued new regulations which expanded the form of the daily statement to include a considerable mass of financial detail which had not before been published.

W. O. Woods, treasurer of the United States, has issued orders prohibiting employees from giving out information relative to the daily statement. He explained that it is impossible to prevent advance knowledge of figures on the daily statement from getting into the hands of a number of employees of the treasury department.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Oeden L. Mills is said to have considered the matter carefully. Issuance of a statement daily for the information of a number of high officials probably would not be feasible as it would be handled by messengers and others and might lead to more corruption than though issued publicly.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Elusive Key Is Problem Of Parents

Time Lost, Nerves Worn By Inefficiency—Dr. Myers

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

During a period of six months I hazard the guess that my wife and I together have spent about a day, all told, looking for the keys to the car.

It is a family car. She and I are about the only drivers. I have, as do most men, several pockets. I seem not to have any particular one for the keys. If I leave the keys in my pocket and go off by bus down town the next day, with these treasures, some embarrassment ensues.

After several such offenses, I learned practically always to leave the keys somewhere in the house on my returning with the car. There is the buffet. Sometimes I put the keys on it, but not always. Coming in by way of the kitchen I have left them there at several different places on several different times. Then the mantelpiece above the fireplace sometimes welcomes keys and, the little stand which groans under stacks of magazines still is able to stand up under these elusive metal keys.

The writing desk at the end of the room also bears their weight at times and, for reasons which are not always very apparent, these keys have been known to rest upon the table of my upstairs study.

Mrs. Myers also has employed nearly all these places for depositing the keys. Sometimes she puts them into her handbag and occasionally leaves them, when interrupted by a telephone call or by some demand upon her patience by a child or by her husband, in some place entirely new. Imitating me as I have used new places she increases hers; and, imitating her, I widen my array of places where I leave the keys.

It is time to go somewhere. She must go alone, or I alone, or both of us together. One begins the search; the other, to seem helpful, joins in. The time may be limited. There is a class to meet, a P. T. A. or a social engagement, or a child has just a few minutes left to be taken through a storm to school.

Each searcher seems to have a choice place to look first for those keys. When all the old places are exhausted, new ones are explored. When one or two persons grow a little nervous others join with apparent sympathy. Oh, here they are! someone exclaims, as if he has been playing "Find the thimble."

Frequently Mrs. Myers and I have solemnly agreed upon a place, only to learn soon that we had violated our agreement unawares. Often one of us, more often I, comment in a tone not very happy, that it is absurd that we should waste our time in such a feeble-minded way. Such comments rarely are made, of course, by the one who last had used the car.

Finally, in despair, I drove a nail into one of the polished window frames. There is a place at last which both of us can use. Up to this moment I thought we were victorious. But, terrible to relate, right now I find that nail is bare! and the car is in the garage! Who put it there?

Well, I still believe we are going to learn to use that nail, even though I got a scolding for having marred our window frame.

ABOUT 300 SOPHS AT SENIOR HIGH

Enrollment At Senior High Is Biggest In History Of Local School

According to an announcement, about 300 Sophomores entered the Senior high school on Monday, the opening of the second semester. The total enrollment on Tuesday was 1678.

Battle Again In Senate Spotlight On Commission

Senator Walsh, Montana, Seeks To Get Ouster Resolution Before Senate

COMMISSIONERS ARE IN OFFICE

Senate Agrees To Consider Nominations Of Smith, Garsaud And Draper

By PIERCE MILLER International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The rumormongering between the Senate and President Hoover over confirmation of three members of the federal power commission was again to the fore today.

The Senate agreed to consider the nominations of George Otis Smith, as chairman, and Marcel Garsaud and Claude L. Draper, today. Their action in dismissing Charles A. Russell, solicitor of the old commission, and William V. King, chief accountant, precipitated the attack on the status of the offending commissioners.

Walsh Will Wait
Sen. Walsh (D) of Montana, announced he would seek to bring before the Senate his resolution directing the district attorney here to institute ouster proceedings in the district supreme court.

It was probable Walsh would await action on the nominations before proceeding with the ouster resolution.

Meanwhile the three commissioners are in office, functioning, and drawing pay under a ruling by the controller general. Attorney General Mitchell in a formal opinion also has held they were legally confirmed despite the Senate's contention by an overwhelming vote, that confirmation was never completed and that the President had been prematurely notified.

In voting again on confirmation, and to bring ouster proceedings, the Senate will follow a logical conclusion of its view that the commissioners are illegally in office.

Sen. Wheeler (D) of Montana, who had announced that he would seek to strike from the independent offices appropriation bill the salary items for the power commissioners, has reconsidered his course, under pressure from his colleague as well as Sen. Norris (R) of Nebraska.

Corrals Opposed
On the President's refusal to return the notice of confirmation, the Senate recommitted the names, and the Interstate Commerce committee proceeded as if they have never been up before. Yesterday the names were again ordered, reported, but without recommendation.

It was a foregone conclusion the Democrat-Insurgent coalition would this time prevent confirmation, thus paving the way for adoption of the Walsh resolution. The coalition had sufficient votes to force reconsideration and subsequent recommendation to the Interstate Commerce committee. There appeared to be no breaks in their ranks.

Administration supporters, although they had succeeded thus far in delaying action on the Walsh ouster proposal, have no hope of preventing its adoption.

Arrest Trio On Disorderly Charge

Officer Finds Liquor In Possession Of Men At Service Station

Three colored men, who gave the names of Harold Owens, Paul Cochran, and Shirley Walker, were placed under arrest at a service station at the corner of State and Grant streets last evening by Officer H. E. Richards.

Officer Richards' attention was drawn to the men, when they drove in a car and remarked about hitting a machine. One of the trio, Shirley Walker started to run away, and was chased to 814 State street before captured. Officer Richards found a pint of liquor on him. Cochran, another of the group dropped a pint bottle containing liquor behind an alcohol barrel, where it was found and turned over to the officer.

Johnny Waters, who was also in the crowd, made his escape. The other three were brought to the police station, where they were fined $10 and costs this morning by Acting Mayor Burns. Owens was unable to pay his fine and is still confined in the lockup.

Internal Revenue Man To Move Here

Cornerstones Of New Grove City Buildings Laid

Ceremonies Are Carried Out Today In Presence Of Friends Of School

GROVE CITY, Pa., Feb. 4.—Alumni of Grove City college and friends of the institution gathered here today to view the most impressive ceremony in the history of the institution since its organization 55 years ago.

The corner stone of a new chapel that will be a memorial to the late Samuel and Mrs. Harrison of Pittsburgh was laid by R. W. Harrison of Pittsburgh and W. A. Harrison of New York. The building is a gift of the family as a memorial and will be known as Harrison Memorial chapel. Wilson Campbell of Pittsburgh of the college trustee board laid the corner of the new science hall. Dr. W. E. Purvis, the college pastor made the only address of the day at the 2 p. m. ceremony.

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Ketter, the college head, entertained members of the trustee board at a luncheon preceding the ceremony. The 700 students were excused from classes during the hour of the ceremony.

IS IMPROVING
O. L. Gilmore, vice-president of the First National bank, the victim of a light stroke is reported improving and will soon be back at his bank work.

ON COLLEGE PROGRAM
Dr. Jack Bridges of the faculty of Grove City college will make the address of Thursday at the radio hour of station WSAJ of the college. The next Thursday program will be in charge of the high school. It will be a Lincoln Day memorial program.

SEEK POST OFFICE SITE
The burning question in Grove City today is, "Where will the new post office be built and when?" News that the building has been recommended by the committee of the cabinet officials authorized to handle such matters arrived late Wednesday afternoon by wire from Hon. T. C. Cochran of the 28th Pennsylvania district to whose efforts the new structure is possible.

Cochran has been working on the project for two years. He has furnished the committee requisitioned data during that period of time. In this work he has had the cooperation of Postmaster O. H. Firm to the fullest extent.

MOST TAXES IN
Collector McCoy reports the large percentage of his tax duplicate turned in to the proper authorities. The duplicate for this year totaled over $200,000. Tax gathering this year is conducted under the worst circumstances of any in municipal history for many years.

Do Not Throw Ashes In Street

Councilman Stanley Treser today made a request of local citizens that they do not take advantage of the department of streets.

"Some people continue to dump ashes in the street. The ashes in many instances contain nails. Auto tires are punctured," he said.

"Times are hard. We don't want to cause arrests. I would ask the people to not dump ashes in the streets. If they do we will have to arrest them," he said.

The board will meet at 10 a. m. recess at noon and reconvene at two o'clock. Property owners who have received increases over the figures set by Blon Cover, chief assessor, have been notified. Several hundred notifications have been sent out, it is reported.

Seeking Data Of Early Residents

Independence, Kan., Woman Writes Prothonotary R. M. Campbell For Information

Prothonotary R. M. Campbell received a letter this morning from Mrs. Theda H. Owens of Independence, Kan., in which Mrs. Owens is wanting to know if there are any descendants of her grandmother, Mary Katherine Fairbanks, born here in October, 1834, still living in this vicinity. Mrs. Fairbanks was the daughter of Eve or Ella Snyder, who was married to Francis Fairbanks. Tradition says that after the death of Mrs. Fairbanks, Mr. Fairbanks was married to a woman by the name of Hixon, Dixon or Bousal, the writer don't know which. He had four children by this wife.

Mrs. Owens says that her grandmother's great, great grandfather was Morris Lawrence. She wants to know for whom Lawrence county was named, evidently believing that it was for her distant relative. Mr. Campbell looked up the matter in an old Lawrence county history which seems to show that Lawrence county was named for a famous naval hero, Commodore Lawrence.

Mrs. Owens also wants to know if there is a place in Lawrence county that was ever known as Kengie or Kangle flats. Nobody around the court house ever heard of such a place.

Bee Men Ready For Meeting, Election In City Thursday

Members of the Lawrence County Bee Keepers' association had formulated final plans for the annual meeting and election, which will be held this year in the New Castle Y. M. C. A. Thursday afternoon. H. A. Kyle, North Beaver township, is the president.

The meeting will commence at 1:30 p. m. E. J. Anderson, State College bee specialist, will give an illustrated lecture, "Proper Methods of Bee Management in Pennsylvania." Business of the association will consist of committee reports and election of officers for the ensuing year. Anyone interested in bees, but not a member, is invited to attend.

Pymatuning Work Would Alter Line

Eventual Pennsy Right-Of-Way Change Foreseen; No Action Yet

Officials of the Pennsylvania railroad here declined to make any statement today regarding the possible right-of-way changes the company might necessarily have to make in the Linesville and Jamestown district once actual construction on the Pymatuning dam project is undertaken.

If the dam appropriation is approved, and in all probability it will be, changes in the railroad's line in western Crawford county will eventually be made.

The division office here announces no alterations are planned for the immediate future.

Evangelist Collitt Is Expected To Arrive And Have Charge This Evening

Revival services at the Hoover Heights tabernacle started last evening in a manner that indicates a very successful religious effort on the part of that church organization. The church was filled with a congregation, which took an active and interested part in the meeting. F. B. Collitt, of Beulah Beach, O., the evangelist of the services was unable to be present owing to sickness in his family but is expected to be present tonight and for the balance of the meetings, which are held each evening at seven o'clock. In the absence of the evangelist, Rev. E. C. Anderson of the Pearson street tabernacle, was the preacher and he delivered a wonderful appeal from the text Luke 15 "The Prodigal's Elder Brother".

The singing last night was of a very pleasing character and was aided by the cornet playing of Willys Fye and Cornel Thompson.

No men will report in Meyer avenue as department of sewers, employees are doing the catch basin work, Treser said.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

21. General von Steuben—The Capture Of Stony Point

ONE OF STEUBEN'S MOST IMPORTANT CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE EFFICIENCY OF WASHINGTON'S ARMY WAS THE EMPHASIS HE LAID UPON THE VALUE OF THE BAYONET. UNDER HIS TEACHING THE AMERICAN SOLDIERS BECAME A MATCH FOR THE BRITISH REGULARS WITH THAT WEAPON.

STEUBEN'S FAITH IN THE BAYONET WAS MORE THAN JUSTIFIED BY "MAD" ANTHONY WAYNE'S SMASHING VICTORY AT STONY POINT ON JULY 15-16, 1779. AT MIDNIGHT WAYNE'S MEN, WITH ORDERS NOT TO FIRE A SHOT, ADVANCED TOWARD THE STRONG BRITISH POSITION.

IN TWO COLUMNS THE AMERICANS DASHED FORWARD, - ON THROUGH THE MARSH AND UP THE HILL, - UNDER A HEAVY FIRE FROM THE ENEMY'S GUNS. THE GALLANT WAYNE WAS HIT, BUT INSISTED ON BEING CARRIED ALONG AT THE HEAD OF HIS MEN.

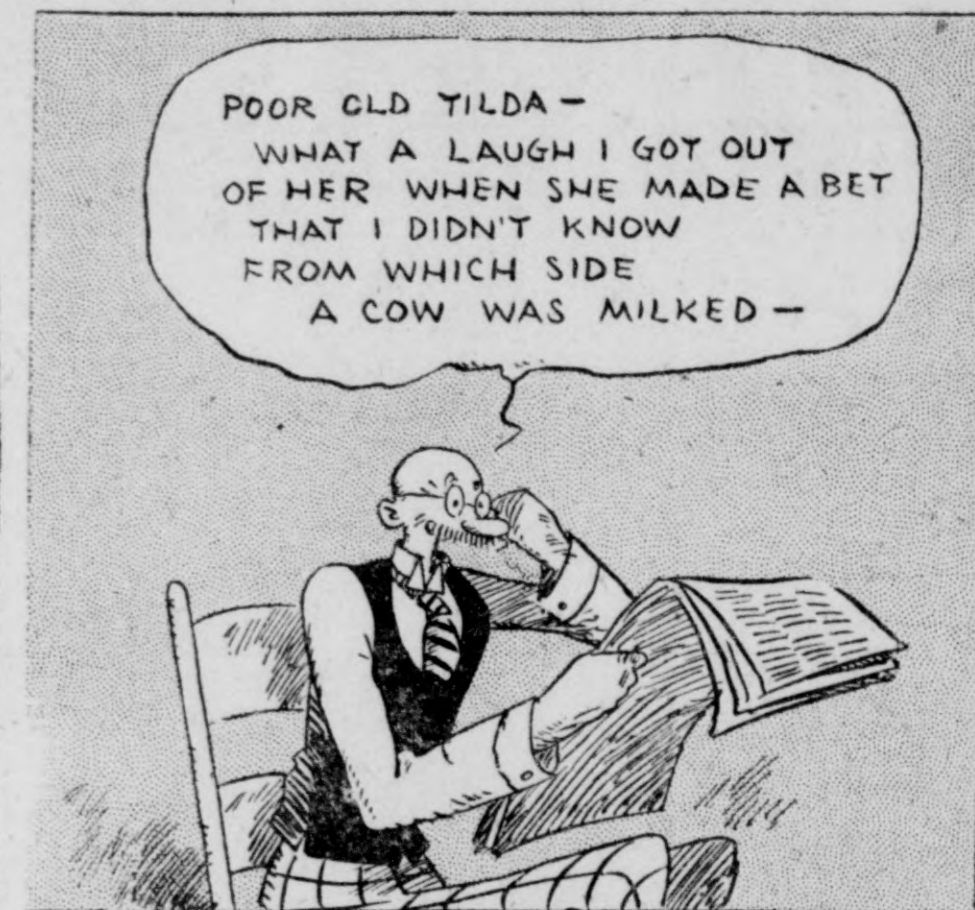

WITHOUT FIRING A SHOT THE AMERICANS CUT THEIR WAY THROUGH THE ENEMY'S WORKS AND TOOK ALL THE BRITISH SURVIVORS PRISONERS AT THE POINT OF THE BAYONET. THIS BRILLIANT SUCCESS CHEERED THE AMERICAN PUBLIC.

New Castle Five Trims Zelenople In Thirteenth Win

Undeaten Senior High Cagers Start Second Half Play With 37-16 Victory

Locals Look Ragged; Shaffer, J. Uram, and Marvin Used On First Team

A ragged New Castle high basketball team composed of three new varsity men piled up a 37-16 victory over Zelenople high on Tuesday night in the first contest of the second half of the Section Three race. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh, mentor of the local undefeated quintet was forced to change his lineup due to the ineptness of two cagers and the illness of another.

The starting lineup on Tuesday night for New Castle saw Jimmy Shaffer and Johnny Uram at forwards, Andy Lasky at center, and Nick Uram and Marvin at guards. Francis Wainio and Luther Rowe at the forward berth while Marvin started in place of Regis McAuley who was ill Tuesday.

This revamped lineup although it appeared somewhat ragged, started its scoring activities early in the contest and piled up a 21 point lead when the final whistle blew. In the initial quarter New Castle led by a 10-5 score.

At the start Zelenople secured a lead when Nesbit sank one from the side of the court. N. Uram soon tied the score when he hurled one from the foul line. Zelenople took the lead again at 3-2 when Young made good a foul. J. Uram caged a pretty one handed shot to give the locals a one point lead. From here on New Castle piled up a lead which they held until the finish.

The other five points in the first quarter came as a result of a foul and a field goal by Shaffer and a bucket from the center of the court by Lasky. Smith annexed Zelenople's other two points in the initial stanza.

Half Ends, 20-7

In the first period the New Castle quintet did not seem to function properly and looked ragged. In the second chapter of play a slight improvement was noticed in the New Castle team. The boys were passing better and were playing a better defensive contest. The second quarter ended with the local Red and Black cagers on top, 20-7.

New Castle's 10 markers were scored by Jimmy Shaffer who caged two field goals, Nick Uram who also found the nets for two scores from the field, and Marvin who connected for one double decker. Nesbit made a spectacular shot from the center for Zelenople's two points.

In the third quarter, it appeared as though the lecture which Coach Phil Bridenbaugh had given his new recruits at the half must have done some good as the local cagers looked much better than the Zelenople team in the first half of the tilt. In this stanza the locals came through with two more points. The two Uram brothers, John and Nick tallied the entire 12 points in the third quarter.

Johnny the youngest of the two brothers scored four fouls and two field goals while his older brother scored two field goals. The best Zelenople could do with the puzzling defense offered by their opponents was to annex but one point, that being a foul by Smith. The third quarter ended 32-8, with New Castle leading.

Zelenople outscored the locals in the final period, 8-5. In the final chapter, Coach Bridenbaugh sent in William Grommes, Winter, E. Wainio, Teplica, Ostrosky, and Cooper in place of the first stringers. These boys did well during their short time in the game. Lasky scored his second field goal of the game early at the start of the quarter with Ostrosky sinking one from the foul line. The other New Castle point was scored by Cooper who made a foul. The final score favored New Castle 37-16.

Taking in consideration the fact that it was the first regular game for Marvin, Shaffer and Uram these boys did well against their opponents. The New Castle combination on the floor looks promising and should develop into a smooth quintet before the season ends. Both on the defense and offense department of the game.

For New Castle the playing of Nick Uram, Shaffer and John Uram featured while Young and Smith were the best bets for Zelenople. The victory was the thirteenth of the season for New Castle. The locals will play Mars high here on next Friday night.

The summary follows:

New Castle 37 Zelenople 16

Shaffer ..... 3 ..... Smith J. Uram ..... 1 ..... Nesbit Lasky ..... 1 ..... Young N. Uram ..... 1 ..... Hartman Marvin ..... 1 ..... Zeigler

Score by periods:

New Castle ..... 10 10 12 5-37

National League Program Announced

Season To Open On April 15, And Will Close With Games On September 27

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The National league baseball season, schedule of which was announced today will end this year on September 27, the earliest date at which games have been completed in more than 20 years.

The season opens on April 14. In New York the Yankees will pry off the lid for the Giants will be opening in Philadelphia and Brooklyn will play against the Braves in Boston.

In the West the Pirates will engage Roger Hornsby's Cubs in Chicago on opening day, while the Reds play host to the champion Cardinals of St. Louis.

When the American League will follow the example of the senior organization remained a matter of speculation today. Although John B. Heydler, president of the National League, pointed out that the junior organization always has followed the example of the National in matters of this kind, opinion was divided. Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves, and Frank B. York, president of the Brooklyn club, expressed the opinion that the American League would stick to the old plan.

Fuchs revealed to International News Service that he, York and William Vecek, president of the Chicago Cubs, had voted to retain the old ball, the other five club owners being in favor of the change.

Adopt New Ball

Action of the league in adopting the new ball for the regular playing season came as a complete surprise. Advance information was that it would merely be tried out during the training season.

New Ball Will Be Used In Big League

Pitchers Sigh With Relief As League Moguls Adopt New Type Ball

Rabbit Ball Is Thing Of Past—Pitchers Will Have Chance To Show Stuff

By LES CONKLIN

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—National League pitchers, bombarded from pillar to post by long distance batsmen during the past ten years, heaved a sigh of relief today as a result of the abolishment of the rabbit ball by the league at its mid-winter meeting here late yesterday.

Experts estimate that adoptions of the new ball, with a heavier cover and raised stitches, will enable pitchers to put so much more "stuff" on the ball that the home run output in the senior organization will be reduced by something like twenty per cent and by the same token batting averages are likely to shrink from ten to fifteen points. Abolishment of the sacrifice fly will cause further shrinkage of from ten to fifteen points.

Union Noses Out Mercer High In Fast Games 26-25

Mercer High Gives Union Real Scare In Battle At Union Floor Tuesday

The Union High School basketball team nosed out Mercer High 26 to 25, in a fast and interesting floor game played on the Union court last night. Through a misunderstanding the Mercer team came here, instead of Union going to Mercer as originally scheduled.

At the end of the first quarter the Mercer High boys had a lead of 8 to 4. The end of the first half found Mercer ahead 13 to 10. The third quarter was Union's best, the locals scoring ten points, five for Mercer to make the score 20 to 18. In the final period the Unionites led by Zarembo scored six points against seven for Mercer, with the final tally being 26 to 25. Mercer had a chance to tie the score in the final five seconds of play but Patton missed the four try, and so did Jaworski for Union, it being a double foul.

Coach "Bill" Crowell brought a fast team to Union. Coach Boyd used a revamped lineup and it looked very good. Zarembo and Mateja led the Union team in field goals. McCarthy and Patton were the best for Mercer.

Thursday night the New Wilmington High team comes to Union High for a return game.

The summary:

Butler Defeats Evans City Five

Many Fans Predict Butler Will Be Hardest Foe For New Castle In Second Half

While New Castle high was disposing of Zelenople high on Tuesday night, Butler high school's impressive quintet was handing Evans City a 27-19 defeat.

New Castle meets Butler high on February 20 at Butler. Many fans predict that Butler will be New Castle's hardest foe during the second half of play due to the strong reserve material which replaced the three boys who were lost to Butler at the end of the first semester.

Pitt And W. & J. Play Fast Game

Pitt Panthers Extended To Limit To Down Wash-Jeff Quintet 29 To 26

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 4.—Excitement had barely subsided today over the hectic floor contest last night, which saw Wash-Jeff's five after a fourth quarter rally that drew them up to even terms with the Panthers, finally drop the match in a wild finale, 29-26. Spectators pronounced it one of the most thrilling as well as roughest games ever played on the local floor.

Delayed for over an hour because of the late arrival of officials, the game got under way with Pitt maintaining a strong lead, the Panthers rolling up, in the third quarter, sufficient points to make their margin of 9 assure certain victory. But with that score of 26-15 against them, the President started a rally that soon wiped out the difference entirely, and tied the match at 26 all.

With their backs to the wall, the Pittites at this point tightened up, while Allbright wiggled through the Wash-Jeff defense to cage a basket, added to which Kowalski's foul a moment later brought them their three point victory.

However, shortly after the 1929 season closed Lorian lost his life in an auto accident and all the next season Willoughby and Sweetland must have felt the lack of that capable mitt waiting for their slants.

Campbell Vexed When Gears Slip In Speed Trial

British "Dare-Devil" Racer Delayed Today As Gears Are Being Repaired

CLAIMS HE HIT 260-MILE MARK

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Sports Writer

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. Feb. 4.—

Gear trouble in his powerful motor car, Bluebird 11, today vexed captain Malcolm Campbell, veteran British race driver, who is eagerly awaiting the propitious time when he can with reasonable safety attempt the world's automobile record of 248 miles an hour.

Because of this mechanical difficulty, which came when he was racing against time at the terrific speed, Campbell may not be able to make a try for the record along the beach course here this afternoon. As he had planned, providing the weather and beach conditions were satisfactory.

Gears Slip Out

Captain Campbell declared he was making the phenomenal speed of 260 miles an hour at the time his gears slipped. This estimate of his speed is his own and, of course, is entirely unofficial. Shortly after the mishap occurred, Campbell's car roared into the mile stretch that was being officially timed. The record of the official timers showed that he made the "measured mile" at a speed of 195.38 miles an hour, his time over the mile was 18.52 seconds.

Campbell's official speed over a kilometer, which is approximately 1/2 of a mile, was 201.707 miles an hour, and his time for the kilometer was 11.09 seconds.

The British racer said the gears slipped about a quarter of a mile before his speeding car reached the wire at the start of the measured mile. Consequently, he said, he virtually "coasted" all the way through the mile in neutral. Even so, he was pleased over the fact that he had officially made 194 miles an hour which he thought was excellent under the circumstances.

Acme Passers Defeat Juniors

Securing a lead at the start of the game and holding onto it until the end, the strong Acme Five basketball team defeated the Junior A team of the senior high school by a 29-18 score in a game played on Monday on the senior high floor.

The work of Vik and Thomas featured for the Acmes while Vigali and Ciccone were the best bets for the Junior A's.

The summary: Junior A's 19 Brumbaugh, F. Cooper, Vik, F. Brincko, McIlwain, C. Vigali, Zidow, G. Ciccone, McIlvenny, G. Semler. Sub—Acme: Thomas.

Thiel Passers Top Waynesburg, 40-33

(International News Service)

GREENVILLE, Pa., Feb. 4.—Thiel college's quintet mounted another step today in the tri-state district basketball ladder with their impressive victory last night over the Waynesburg college five. The final score was 40-33, marking their third straight win. The Thiel shooters put the game on ice very early last night and failed to let the contest get out of hand.

The half-time score was 22-15 in Thiel's favor.

St. Mary's Tops Grovers 50 To 18

St. Mary's A. A. Quintet Hands Grove City Infantry Lacing On Local Court

MANCINE-JONES HIGH SCORERS

The St. Mary's A. A. basketball team hung up another victory in the war chest last night by topping the strong Grove City 112th Infantry team 50 to 18, in a game played at the St. Mary's auditorium floor. The locals took a commanding lead in the first period and were never in danger of being headed.

At the end of the first quarter the locals had a lead of 12 to 2.

The visitors could not locate the hoops, with any degree of regularity whatsoever. The Saints led by Mancine and Jones hung up many points. Most Mancine was used at center when Alexander could not be present and played a whale of a game, caging five baskets to tie "Bub" Jones for scoring honors. The end of the first half found the Saints ahead 22 to 7. Father Nee director of the team made many substitutions, and the boys made a fine showing.

Saints Look Good.

The end of the third quarter found the St. Mary's team running wild with a lead of 31 to 10. Nineteen more points for the Saints against eight for the Infantrymen made the final tally 50 to 18.

The Saints showed a clever passing and shooting attack, and clicked more smoothly than at any time this year. Hall and Negri were the best bets in the lineup of the Grovers.

Friday night the Lyon's Florists of Sharon will be the attraction at the Saints floor. The game starts at 8:15 o'clock. Tonight the St. Vitus club coached by "Cacky" Gennock will play the St. Mary's Reserves coached by "Caesar Murphy" Barrett.

The summary:—

St. Mary's A. A.	112	Infantry

Spying On Sports

By WILLIAM RITT Central Press Sports Editor

Hockey, as in the case of tennis, golf and boxing is rapidly being conquered (kidnapped would be a better word) by the United States, much to the helpless annoyance of the good brethren above the border.

Until recent years hockey was largely Canada's sport, both professionally and amateur. But its rapid spread throughout the northern United States is making it almost as much an American game as a Canadian one, both in playing personnel and the development of championship teams.

Though most of the players in the hockey major league are Canadian-born, the rapid development of material in college and schools this side the border promises to produce many more players of the ability of George Owen, former Harvardite, who is a star with the Boston Bruins, one of the better sextets in the major circuit.

More than half of the 10 teams in the major circuit, known as the National league, are located in cities of the United States. They are the two New York Clubs, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and Detroit.

Five of the seven clubs in the International league are playing under the banner of Uncle Sam's towns. They are Cleveland, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Detroit and Syracuse.

All of the cities in the so-called Canadian-American league are in United States. They are Boston, Philadelphia, Springfield, Providence and New Haven.

The American league is also entirely made up of teams from towns in the United States, namely Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Duluth, Buffalo, Kansas City and Tulsa.

The California Pro Hockey league is, of course made up of teams representing California communities.

Almost as complete a conquest of amateur hockey is being accomplished by American colleges. No longer do such Canadian schools as the University of Toronto and McGill university cross the border for a practice game. Great McGill recently was trounced by Harvard and Michigan, sadly lacking in reserves just the other day gave Western Ontario a hockey lesson.

With such schools as Harvard, Michigan, Yale, Dartmouth, Minnesota, Williams, Marquette and Wisconsin showing the way, it may not be long before college hockey proves as great a rival to college basketball as the pro ice game is to pro cage sport.

And the game is catching on with high schools too. One observer has pointed out that already in the territory between Boston and Detroit there are more scholastic hockey teams than in all Canada. In Detroit alone there are 16 teams, more than is found in Montreal, metropolis of the Dominion.

All of which indicate that apparently Canadian hockey ambitions for the future are in for a long, cold winter.

Wesley Girls To Play Finnish Team

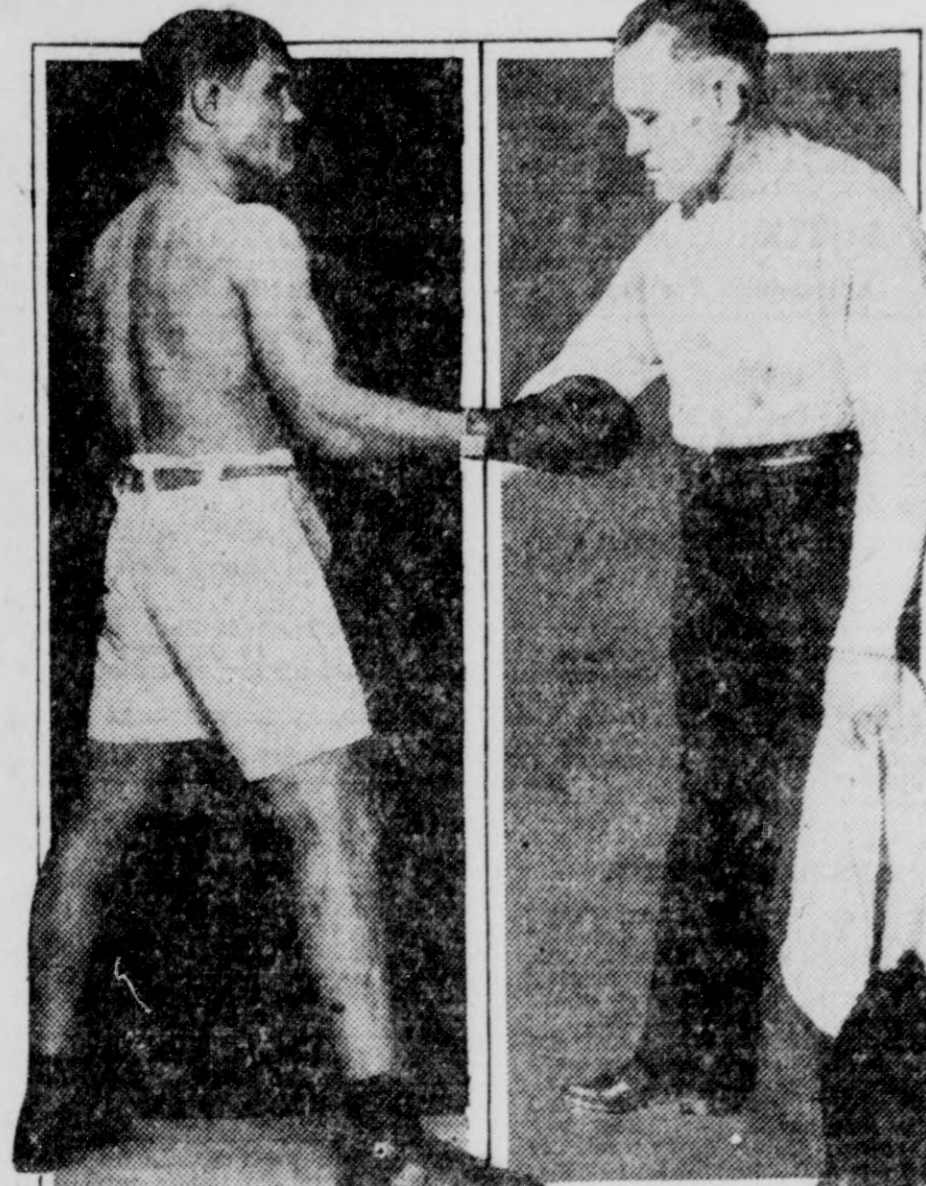

Tonight on the Y. W. C. A. floor the Wesley M. E. girls will play the Finnish Lutherans team. The game will start at seven o'clock. Miss Jennie Johnson will referee the contest.

Titans Defeat Ohio Quintet

Westminster Too Fast For Youngstown "Y" Team In 50 To 16 Battle

Coach "Poppy" Harrison's tall Titans of Westminster rang up another victory last night at the college floor in New Wilmington downing the Youngstown "Y" team 50 to 16. The United Presbyterian passers were always in the lead.

Captain Phil Rice was the big point getter in the Westminster camp caging nine field goals and playing a whale of a guarding game. Hamas and Arthurs starting their first varsity games played good ball each caging four buckets. Blanner started in place of Fisher and made a good showing.

The score at the end of the first quarter was 27 to 0 in favor of the Titans. The Youngstown team was held to four field goals, two of them being made by Banks.

The revised Westminster lineup clicked very nicely. Coach Harrison will enter the game at Allegheny with more confidence, after the showing of his charges last night.

The summary:—
Westminster 50
Youngstown 16

Hamas.....L. F.....Marks
Siljanders.....R. F.....Winters
Arthurs.....C.....Peterson
Blanner.....L. G.....Hunter
Rice.....R. G.....Banks
Substitutes: Fisher, Brownlee, Considine, Williams, Douglas, Kocheran, Newton, Cole, Mullin, Johnston.

Field goals—Hamas 4, Arthurs 4, Rice 2, Brownlee, Considine 2, Douglas 2, Kocheran, Winters, Peterson, Banks 2. Fouls: Westminster 6 out of 8; Youngstown Y, 8 out of 15. Referee—Frazier.

"You are to be commended for this public service"

CITY BOARD OF HEALTH
CITY HALL
RENO, NEVADA

September 25, 1930.

The American Cigar Company,
111 Fifth Avenue,
New York, New York.

Gentlemen:

Your very effective campaign in the newspapers against "spit-tipping" by some cigar manufacturers is decidedly in the interest of the public health and in my opinion you are to be commended for this public service.

The use of the word "spit" forcibly calls attention to the evils of the "spit-tipping" methods and no other word could as effectively get over your message to the public.

Our health department is interested in those campaigns which tend to improve general health conditions and in our opinion your present campaign comes within this classification.

Therefore since I consider your campaign to be in the interest of public health since it directs attention to a bad sanitary condition in some cigar manufacturing plants, you have my permission to use this letter if my statement is of value to you.

Sincerely yours,
A. F. Adams
City Health Officer.

... one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. Adams' letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Adams writes: "The use of the word 'spit' forcibly calls attention to the evils of the 'spit-tipping' methods."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it... Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

In this period of cold weather and cracked lips, above all insist on a cigar—free of the spit germ.

Pig Iron Output Shows Increase

Increase Also Shown In Number Of Blast Furnaces In Operation, Survey Reveals

DEMAND FOR STEEL LOSES MOMENTUM

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 4.—A gain in Pig Iron production, the first since April, 1930, and an increase in the number of blast furnaces in operation will be noted tomorrow by the Iron Age in its weekly summary of the Iron and Steel trade.
Pig Iron output for January was 1,714,266 tons, or 55,299 tons a day, compared with 1,665,690 tons, or 53,732 tons daily, in December. Merchant Pig Iron output, however, suffered a further sharp decline, dropping to 9416 tons daily in January from an average of 12,760 tons in the previous month.
Steel demand has lost momentum and is increasingly uneven, with some markets centers reporting that improvement has been definitely arrested. Specifications in the aggregate continue to show slight expansion, with Tin Plate, Rails, Track Accessories and Line Pipe giving production the best support.
Raw Steel is at least holding its own with Ingot production for the country at large now averaging fully 48 per cent, compared with 47 per cent a week ago.
